 - 1. Ontario's Action Plan: Protect, Support, Recover 2020 Budget
 - The Government of Ontario has released Ontario's Action Plan: Protect, Support, Recover the next phase of a comprehensive action plan to respond to the serious health and economic impacts of COVID-19.
 - Ontario's Action Plan now sets out a total of $45 billion in support over three years to make available the necessary health resources to continue protecting people, deliver critical programs and tax measures to support individuals, families and job creators impacted by the virus, and lay the groundwork for a robust long-term economic recovery for the province.
 - ✓ Highlights of Ontario's Action Plan: Protect, Support, Recover:
 - Protect $15.2 billion, including $7.5 billion in new funding, for the government's urgent response to COVID-19. Highlights of the new funding include:
 - The government is investing an additional $572 million in Ontario's hospitals to support additional costs of COVID-19, including testing, assessment centres, laboratory and medical equipment, and PPE.
 - This brings the total funding to hospitals above and beyond what was provided last year to over $2.5 billion.
 - The Province is investing more than $18 billion in capital grants over 10 years to build new and expanded hospital infrastructure and address urgent upgrades, including repairs and maintenance to help modernize hospitals across Ontario.

- Ontario is investing $1.75 billion to increase long-term care capacity and access for residents by building 30,000 long-term care beds.
 - i. This includes introducing a new and innovative Accelerated Build Pilot Program that will enable the faster construction of four new long-term care homes and add up to 1,280 beds to the sector.
- To protect loved ones in long-term care from a second wave of COVID-19, and to address long-standing issues in the system, Ontario is providing over half a billion dollars to enable necessary renovations and measures to improve infection prevention and control, allow for the purchase of more personal protective equipment (PPE), and to build a strong health care workforce.
- Increasing average daily direct care from a nurse or personal support worker (PSW) per long-term care resident to four hours a day over a four-year period, making Ontario the leader among Canadian provinces in protecting our seniors.
- Making available $4 billion in 2021-22 and a further $2 billion in 2022-23 in dedicated support to protect people's health and to support the fight against the COVID-19 pandemic.
- Opening the new Cortellucci Vaughan Hospital site with a new emergency room, state-of-the-art diagnostic imaging and operating rooms. This is the first newly built hospital to open in Ontario in 30 years that adds net new capacity to the system.
- Support $13.5 billion, including $2.4 billion in additional supports for people and jobs. Highlights of the new funding include:
 - Providing $380 million to parents through another round of payments, following the $378 million of funding in March of $200 per child up to 12 years old and $250 per child and youth with special needs up to 21 years old, through the Support for Learners initiative.
 - i. This will assist with added costs of COVID-19, such as technology for online learning.

- ii. This means a family with three young children, one of whom has special needs, would receive $1,300 in 2020 to support costs related to educational supplies and technology.
- Proposing the new Seniors' Home Safety Tax Credit for the 2021 taxation year — a 25 per cent credit on eligible renovations of up to $10,000 — to help seniors stay in their homes longer by making their homes safer and more accessible.
 - i. Seniors would be eligible regardless of their incomes and whether they owe income tax for 2021.
 - ii. Family members who live with them and support them would also be eligible.
- Investing an additional $60 million over three years starting in 2020-21 in the Black Youth Action Plan, doubling its base funding to extend the current program and create a new economic empowerment stream that will support Black youth in achieving social and economic success.
- Investing $100 million over two years for the Community Building Fund to support community tourism, cultural and sport organizations which are experiencing significant financial pressures due to the pandemic.
- Providing one-time emergency funding of $25 million for Ontario's arts institutions to help cover operating losses incurred as a result of COVID-19.
- Providing an additional $1.8 billion in the Support for People and Jobs Fund over the next two years, 2021-22 and 2022-23, to remain responsive to emerging needs and continue providing supports for the people of Ontario.
- Recover $4.8 billion in new supports to build the foundation for a strong recovery fuelled by economic growth. Highlights include:
 - Making additional investments of over $680 million over the next four years in broadband infrastructure which, combined with its prior commitments, increases Ontario's investment to a historic nearly $1 billion to ensure communities across the province are connected.

- Bringing more jobs to Ontario with a comprehensive plan to address the job-killing high costs of electricity, saving medium-size and larger industrial and commercial employers about 14 and 16 per cent respectively, on average, on their electricity bills (at an additional expense of $1.3 billion over three years).
- Reducing property taxes on job creators and levelling the playing field by lowering high Business Education Tax (BET) rates for over 200,000 employers, or 94 per cent of all business properties in Ontario, to a rate of 0.88 per cent.
 - i. This is creating $450 million in immediate annual savings and representing a reduction of 30 per cent for many businesses currently subject to the highest BET rate in the province.
- Responding to requests from local governments by proposing to provide municipalities with the ability to cut property tax for small businesses and a provincial commitment to consider matching these reductions.
 - This would provide small businesses as much as $385 million in total municipal and provincial property tax relief by 2022-23, depending on municipal adoption.
- Ending a tax on jobs for an additional 30,000 employers by proposing to make permanent the Employer Health Tax (EHT) exemption increase from $490,000 to $1 million.
 - i. With this additional relief about 90 per cent of employers would pay no EHT, saving them $360 million in 2021-22 that could be reinvested in jobs and growth.
- Committing to provide Ontario residents with support of up to 20 per cent for eligible Ontario tourism expenses to encourage them to safely discover Ontario in 2021, the year of the Ontario staycation.
- Connecting workers in the tourism and hospitality sector and others most affected by the pandemic to training and jobs with an investment of $180.5 million over 3 years, including a skilled trades strategy, an additional $100 million of dedicated investments through Employment

- Ontario for skills training, a redesigned Second Career program, and $59.5 million to acquire in-demand skills.
- Providing $500 million over four years to make government services more reliable, convenient and accessible through the Ontario Onwards Acceleration Fund.

- 10. December 18th Ontario Supports Employers and Employees Impacted by COVID-19 Proactive measures to protect jobs by helping businesses avoid costly payouts and potential closures
 - The Ontario government is taking action to protect jobs by helping businesses avoid costly payouts and potential closures and continues offering protection to workers that are laid off due to COVID-19.
 - These measures are being adopted through the extension of regulatory amendments that were put in place at the outset of the pandemic and through the introduction of a new regulation.
 - For employers with non-unionized employees, the government is extending regulatory changes brought forward under the Employment Standards Act to July 3, 2021.
 - The regulation's changes include putting non-unionized employees on job-protected leave during the COVID-19 outbreak any time their hours of work are temporarily reduced by their employer due to the pandemic to prevent temporary layoffs from becoming permanent.

- Under the Act, temporary layoffs become terminations when they exceed the permitted period.
- Previously set to expire on January 2, 2021, the extension of this amendment ensures that workers remain employed while providing relief to employers.
- To support the hospitality industry and other hard-hit industries, the government is creating a special industry regulation allowing employers to negotiate alternative arrangements with unions for putting termination and severance pay into trust for laid-off employees.
 - Employers with laid-off unionized workers need to put all potential termination and severance payments in a trust after 35 weeks while employees wait to be recalled to their jobs.
 - Given the unique challenges that many employers in the tourism and hospitality industries are facing as a result of COVID-19, the government is providing employers and unions the option to use those funds to help keep business doors open.
 - The provision is only available if unions and employers both agree to create alternative arrangements.

21. December 9th - Ontario Protecting Workers and Employers during COVID-19

- _The Ontario government introduced the Workplace Safety and Insurance Amendment Act, 2020 that would, if passed, protect employers from an unexpected increase in Workplace Safety and Insurance Board (WSIB) premiums, while maintaining an increase to the maximum earnings cap for worker benefits.
- The loss of jobs among lower wage workers, including those in the retail, hospitality and the service sector, during the COVID-19 pandemic has resulted in an increase in the average industrial wage (AIG) of Ontario workers by 7.8 per cent, compared to an average increase of 2-3 per cent.
 - The proposed amendment would limit the impact the increase the AIG has on WSIB premiums to 2 per cent, making sure struggling business owners aren't subject to sudden undue costs during these challenging times.

- 31. November 10th Ontario's Action Plan: Protect, Support, Recover Promotes

 Job Creation by Reducing Taxes on Employers
 - The Ontario government is proposing to give municipalities the flexibility to target property tax relief to small businesses.
 - The province is also considering matching these reductions, which would provide small businesses with as much as $385 million in municipal and provincial property tax relief.
 - This initiative is part of the 2020 Budget, Ontario's Action Plan: Protect, Support, Recover.
 - Through the 2020 Budget, the government also announced that it will level the playing field by lowering high Business Education Tax (BET) rates for over 200,000 employers, or 94 per cent of all business properties in Ontario, starting January 1, 2021.
 - This will create $450 million in immediate annual savings and represents a reduction of 30 per cent for many businesses currently subject to the highest BET rate in the province.
 - Taken together, these property tax measures could mean a business like a bakery shop in Toronto could receive $5,000 in municipal tax relief and $4,000 in provincial property tax relief if the local government applies a 30 per cent discount with the proposed new small business property subclass. Combined with a $1,500 BET reduction, this bakery shop owner would receive a total of $10,500 in property tax savings in 2021.

Revision Update: January 12th, 2021 @ 4:30PM

 Back in March, the government more than doubled the Employer Health Tax exemption to $1 million for 2020.

- Employers across Ontario have indicated that this measure helped them keep workers on the job during COVID-19.
- Ontario's 2020 Budget proposes to make this exemption increase permanent.
- That means an additional 30,000 employers would no longer pay this tax.
- The Ontario government is also helping main street businesses stay open and stay safe by offering a grant of up to $1,000 for the costs of personal protective equipment (PPE), with applications for the $60million Main Street Relief Grant becoming available online on November 16, 2020.
 - Small businesses with two to nine employees in the retail, accommodations and food services, repair and maintenance, and personal and laundry services sectors can apply for this one-time grant.

32. November 3rd - Government Provides Additional Details on $300 Million to Support Eligible Businesses

- In consultation with the Chief Medical Officer of Health and other health experts, the Ontario government has developed the Keeping Ontario Safe and Open Framework.
- It ensures that public health measures are targeted, incremental and responsive to help limit the spread of COVID-19, while keeping schools and businesses open, maintaining health system capacity and protecting vulnerable people, including those in long-term care.
- The framework takes a gradual approach that includes introducing preventative measures earlier to help avoid broader closures and allow for additional public health and workplace safety measures to be introduced or removed incrementally.
 - It categorizes public health unit regions into five levels: Green-Prevent, Yellow-Protect, Orange-Restrict, Red-Control, and Lockdown being a measure of last and urgent resort.

- Each level outlines the types of public health and workplace safety measures for businesses and organizations.
- These include targeted measures for specific sectors, institutions and other settings.

Supporting Businesses Affected by COVID-19 Public Health Measures

- The Ontario government is making $300 million available to businesses required to close or significantly restrict services in areas subject to modified Stage 2 public health restrictions (Ottawa, Peel, Toronto, and York Region) or, going forward, in areas categorized as Control or Lockdown.
- Beginning November 16, 2020, eligible businesses will be able to apply for temporary property tax and energy cost rebates directly to the province through a single, online application portal.
- Many businesses should expect to receive their rebate payments within a few weeks of finalizing and submitting their completed application.
- Types of businesses that are eligible for support include restaurants and bars, bingo halls, gaming establishments, casinos, conference centres and convention centres, gyms, facilities for indoor sports and recreational fitness activities, community centres and multi-purpose facilities, museums, performing arts and cinemas and personal care services (with exception of oxygen bars) that were required to close or are subject to significant restrictions under modified Stage 2.
- Rebates will cover the period of time that businesses are required to temporarily close or significantly restrict services.
 - The property tax rebates will be net of any federal support in respect of property taxes provided through the new Canada Emergency Rent Subsidy (CERS), so that the rebate will cover costs beyond those covered by CERS.
 - Through Ontario's Property Tax and Energy Cost Rebates program, the government is building on its collaboration with federal partners to ensure eligible businesses receive the financial help they need as a result of targeted provincial public health restrictions.

- 106. December 4th Government expands Canada Emergency Business Account loans
 - Starting on Friday, December 4, 2020, eligible businesses facing financial hardship as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic are able to access a second CEBA loan of up to $20,000 – on top of the initial $40,000 that was available to small businesses.
 - Half of this additional financing, up to $10,000, will be forgivable if the loan is repaid by December 31, 2022.
 - This means the additional loan effectively increases CEBA loans from the existing $40,000 to $60,000 for eligible businesses, of which a total of $20,000 will be forgiven if the balance of the loan is repaid on time.
 - As announced in the Fall Economic Statement, the application deadline for CEBA has also been extended to March 31, 2021.
 - To apply, eligible businesses and not-for-profits need to contact the financial institution that provided their initial CEBA loan and provide the appropriate information and documentation.

 - The NCL helps determine eligibility and pay within the Primary Agricultural Stream of the Temporary Foreign Worker (TFW) Program.

- 109. November 23rd (Update) New, targeted support to help businesses through pandemic receives Royal Assent

November 23rd Update - Canada Revenue Agency opens applications for the Canada Emergency Rent Subsidy

- Today, the Federal government opened the Canada Emergency Rent Subsidy (CERS) to receive applications from qualifying organizations.
- These organizations can now apply directly for the subsidy for the period from September 27 to October 24, 2020 through the Canada

Revenue Agency (CRA) My Business Account, or Represent a Client portals.

- Applications for the second CERS period (October 25 to November 21, 2020) will open on November 30.
- For more details, please visit:
 https://www.canada.ca/en/revenue-agency/services/subsidy/emergency-rent-subsidy.html
- The CRA has launched a CERS online calculator and application form that are designed almost identically to those of the Canada Emergency Wage Subsidy (CEWS).
 - i. The calculator guides applicants through a step-by-step process that allows them to determine the subsidy amount they can claim, based on the information they enter.
 - ii. The CERS web pages include detailed information about eligibility requirements, how payment periods are structured, and how the subsidy is calculated.
- In response to concerns raised by stakeholders about the program, the Government is proposing to amend the CERS in order to allow applicants to include eligible expenses in their CERS application before the expense has been paid.
 - This means that organizations can include rent and other eligible amounts already paid in respect of a claim period as well as amounts that are payable for the claim period when submitting their CERS applications.
 - Amounts that are not paid at the time of the application will have to be paid no later than 60 days after payment of the subsidy.

Details

 The Ontario government is partnering with the federal government to provide urgent relief for small businesses and landlords affected by the COVID-19 outbreak.

- To find out how much rent support an entity may be eligible for, please visit Ontario.ca/rentassistance.
- Application documents and updated criteria for the Emergency Commercial Rent Assistance program are now available, and that the program will be opened for applications beginning on May 25th.
 - i. Applications will be accepted through the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) website
 - ii. The CECRA for small businesses will be available until August 31, 2020
- The CECRA for small businesses has been developed to share the cost of rent between small business tenants, landlords and the governments of Ontario and Canada.
- Small business landlords would be asked to forgive at least 25 per cent of the tenant's total rent, tenants would be asked to pay up to 25 per cent of rent and the provincial and federal government would share the cost of the remaining 50 per cent.
- The province is committing $241 million through the new Canada Emergency Commercial Rent Assistance Program (CECRA).
- The total amount of provincial-federal relief that would be provided is more than $900 million, helping to ensure small businesses are ready to reopen their doors when the emergency measures are lifted.
- The CECRA will provide forgivable loans to eligible commercial property owners experiencing potential rent shortfalls because their small business tenants have been heavily impacted by the COVID-19 crisis.
- To receive the loan, property owners will be required to reduce the rental costs of small business tenants for April to July 2020 by at least 75 per cent and commit to a moratorium on evictions.
- The forgivable loans would be disbursed directly to the mortgage lender of the commercial property in question.
- As part of Ontario's Action Plan: Responding to COVID-19, the Government has implemented a series of cash flow supports amounting to $10 billion to help support jobs and the economy (see for details).
- o How does the program work?
 - The program has been developed to share the cost between small business tenants and landlords.
 - Small business tenants and landlords would each be asked to pay 25 per cent of the before profit costs and the provincial and federal government would cost share the remaining 50 per cent.

- The loans will be forgiven if the mortgaged property owner agrees to reduce the eligible small business tenants' rent by at least 75 per cent for the three corresponding months under a rent forgiveness agreement, which will include a term not to evict the tenant while the agreement is in place.
- For example, a monthly rent for a small business is $10,000. In this example, assume the landlord doesn't make a profit. The landlord forgoes $2,500 (25 per cent of rent). The small business would be responsible for paying $2,500 (25 per cent of rent). The government would cover the remaining $5,000, with $3,750 from the federal government (37.5 per cent of rent) and $1,250 (12.5 per cent of rent) from the provincial government.
- How long would a commercial property owner have to apply for OCECRA?
 - The CECRA for small businesses is administered by the CMHC and will be available until August 31, 2020. Support will be retroactive to April 1, covering April, May, June and July 2020.
- o What are the eligibility requirements for small businesses?
 - An eligible small business tenant is one that:
 - Pays monthly rent not exceeding $50,000 in gross rent payments; and is,
 - A non-essential small business that has temporarily closed, or who is experiencing a 70 per cent drop in pre-COVID-19 revenues.
 - a. There are 2 scenarios by which to calculate the 70% reduction in revenues:
 - If a small business was operating during April June 2019, then compare the gross revenues from April, May and June of 2020 to the revenues of April, May and June of 2019.
 - ii. If the small business was not operating during April – June 2019, then compare the average gross revenues from April, May and June of 2020 to the average gross revenues for January and February 2020.

- Generate no more than $20 million in gross annual revenues, calculated on a consolidated basis (at the ultimate parent level) **
- Not-for-profit organizations and charitable entities would also be considered for the program.
- Are there any eligibility requirements for commercial property owners?
 - The OCECRA would apply to commercial properties with small business tenants.
 - Commercial properties with a residential component, and residential mixed-use properties with a 30 per cent commercial component, would be equally eligible for support with respect to their commercial tenants.
 - If a property owner does not have a mortgage secured by a commercial rental property, the property owner should contact Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation (CMHC) to discuss program options, which may include applying funds against other forms of debt facilities or fixed cost payment obligations (e.g. utilities).
- For additional details and information regarding eligibility, please visit: https://news.ontario.ca/opo/en/2020/04/ontario-canada-emergency-commercial-rent-assistance-program.html

- 119. August 24th (Update) Canada Emergency Wage Subsidy (CEWS) 75% Wage Subsidy (Currently Accepting Applications— Direct deposits will begin to appear in employers' accounts as of May 7th)
 - The government is proposing to further extend the wage subsidy program until June 2021 and implement other enhancements to the program to better respond to the evolving economic and health situation.
 - These proposed changes will make the program more flexible and more generous, and ensure that the program provides continued support to employers.
 - Details of the program until December 19, 2020 are provided here.
 - The government will provide details for the upcoming periods in advance of the current terms' expiry and will ensure the wage subsidy program continues to be responsive to the economic situation.
 - The Canada Emergency Wage Subsidy (CEWS) has supported more than 3 million Canadians since the start of the COVID-19 pandemic, providing support to businesses so they can keep their workers, including furloughed workers, on the payroll.

August 17th Update

- To ensure that Canadian workers and businesses are in a better position as our economy safely re-opens, the Government of Canada has recently implemented changes to the CEWS that broaden the reach of the program and provide more targeted support.
- The Canada Revenue Agency has opened applications for Period 5 the first period of the enhanced CEWS program (as of August 17th).
- The Canada Revenue Agency's updated CEWS calculator can help small and large employers alike, by guiding them through a step-by-step process to prepare their applications and giving them a preview of the subsidy they may qualify for, based on the information they enter.
- Eligible employers can apply for period 5 of the CEWS through My Business Account or through the CRA's web form application.
- The CEWS has provided $26.58B in subsidies to more than 275,000 employers, supporting millions of workers.

Program changes for Periods 5-9 include:

 The extension of the CEWS, including redesigned program details, until November 21, 2020.

- Increased eligibility, meaning that all eligible employers who've experienced a revenue drop can now qualify for a base subsidy. The subsidy amount is based on the revenue drop.
- Employers who are especially hard-hit can qualify for a topup of up to 25%.
- Provide certainty for employers that have already made business decisions for July and August, by ensuring they will not receive a subsidy rate lower than they would have under the previous rules.

July 17th Update

 The Federal government has announced changes to the CEWS that would broaden the reach of the program and provide better targeted support so that more workers can return to their jobs quickly as the economy restarts.

The changes include:

- Allow the extension of the CEWS until December 19, 2020, including redesigned program details until November 21, 2020.
- Make the subsidy accessible to a broader range of employers by including employers with a revenue decline of less than 30 per cent and providing a gradually decreasing base subsidy to all qualifying employers.
 - This would help many struggling employers with less than a 30-per-cent revenue loss get support to keep and bring back workers, while also ensuring those who have previously benefited could still qualify, even if their revenues recover and no longer meet the 30 per cent revenue decline threshold.
- Introduce a top-up subsidy of up to an additional 25 per cent for employers that have been most adversely affected by the pandemic.
 - This would be particularly helpful to employers in industries that are recovering more slowly.
- Provide certainty to employers that have already made business decisions for July and August by ensuring they would not receive a subsidy rate lower than they would have had under the previous rules.

Address certain technical issues identified by stakeholders.

Original Announcement

- To support businesses that are facing revenue losses and to help prevent lay-offs, the government is proposing to provide eligible employers a temporary wage subsidy.
- The program was originally set to end June 6th. The program will now be extended to December 2020.
- The Government will consult with key business and labour representatives over the next month on potential adjustments to the program to incent jobs and growth, including the 30 per cent revenue decline threshold.
- May 15th Update The approval of regulations to extend eligibility for the CEWS to ensure that it continues to support those employers and workers hardest hit by the COVID-19 pandemic have been announced.
- o These regulations extend eligibility for the CEWS to the following groups:
 - Partnerships that are up to 50-per-cent owned by noneligible members;
 - Indigenous government-owned corporations that are carrying on a business, as well as partnerships where the partners are Indigenous governments and eligible employers;
 - Registered Canadian Amateur Athletic Associations;
 - Registered Journalism Organizations; and
 - Non-public colleges and schools, including institutions that offer specialized services, such as arts schools, driving schools, language schools or flight schools.
- The Government also intends to propose legislative amendments to ensure that the CEWS continues to meet its objectives. These proposed amendments would:
 - Provide flexibility for employers of existing employees who were not regularly employed in early 2020, such as seasonal employees;
 - Ensure that the CEWS applies appropriately to corporations formed on the amalgamation of two predecessor corporations and
 - Better align the treatment of trusts and corporations for the purpose of determining CEWS eligibility.

O Details:

- 75% wage subsidy for qualifying businesses retroactive to March 15, 2020.
- ii. Eligible employers would include individuals, taxable corporations, partnerships consisting of eligible employers, non-profit organizations and registered charities.
- iii. Eligible remuneration may include salary, wages, and other remuneration like taxable benefits.
- iv. This subsidy would be available to eligible employers that see a drop of at least 15 per cent of their revenue in March 2020 and 30 per cent for the following months.
- v. An employer's revenue for this purpose is its revenue in Canada earned from arm's-length sources.
- vi. Would apply at a rate of 75% of the first $58,700 normally earned by employees representing a benefit of up to $847 per week.
- vii. The easiest way to apply for the CEWS is through My Business Account or Represent a Client.
- viii. CEWS claims will be subject to verification by the CRA. Funds for approved applications will begin to be released on May 5th appearing in employers' accounts starting May 7th.
 - ix. The pre-crisis remuneration for a given employee would be based on the average weekly remuneration paid between January 1 and March 15 inclusively.
 - x. There would be no overall limit on the subsidy amount that an eligible employer may claim.

- xi. Eligible employers would include employers of all sizes and across all sectors of the economy, with the exception of public sector entities.
- xii. Beginning April 27, 2020, certain financial institutions will offer CRA direct deposit online enrolment for business payroll accounts through their websites, helping businesses get their payments quickly and securely.
- xiii. Employers can sign up for direct deposit with their financial institutions even after applying for the CEWS.
- xiv. Visit Canada.ca/cra-direct-deposit or your financial institution's website for more information.
- xv. If employers are not registered for direct deposit, they should allow additional time for their cheque to be delivered by mail to the address on their payroll account (RP).
- xvi. Canadians can receive the CEWS wage subsidy or the Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB) not both.
- xvii. 100% refund for certain employer-paid contributions to Employment Insurance, the Canada Pension Plan, the Quebec Pension Plan, and the Quebec Parental Insurance Plan.
- xviii. This refund covers 100% of employer-paid contributions for eligible employees for each week throughout which those employees are on leave with pay and for which the employer is eligible to claim the CEWS for those employees.
- xix. Employers would be allowed to calculate their revenues under the accrual method or the cash method, but not a combination of both. Employers would select an accounting method when first applying for the CEWS and would be required to use that method for the entire duration of the program.
- xx. For registered charities and non-profit organizations, the calculation will include most forms of revenue, excluding revenues from non-arm's length persons. These organizations would be allowed to choose whether or not to include revenue from government sources as part of the calculation. Once chosen, the same approach would have to apply throughout the program period.
- In order to address the realities faced by the not-for-profit sector, high growth companies and new businesses, the Government has allowed for additional flexibility:

- To measure their revenue loss, employers have the flexibility to compare their 2020 revenue to that of the same month of 2019, or to an average of their revenue earned in applicable months.
- In recognition that the time between when revenue is earned and when it is paid could be highly variable in certain sectors of the economy, employers be allowed to measure revenues either on the basis of accrual accounting (as they are earned) or cash accounting (as they are received).
- All employers would be expected to at least make best efforts to top up salaries to 100% of the maximum wages covered.
- Those organizations that do not qualify for the Canada Emergency Wage Subsidy may continue to qualify for the previously announced wage subsidy of 10 per cent of remuneration paid from March 18 to before June 20, up to a maximum subsidy of $1,375 per employee and $25,000 per employer (see April 27th (Update) - 10% Wage Subsidy: Effective Immediately for more details).
- For employers that are eligible for both the CEWS and the 10 per cent wage subsidy, any benefit from the 10 per cent wage subsidy for remuneration paid in a specific period would generally reduce the amount available to be claimed under the CEWS in that same period.

 - The Federal government provided additional details on how the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) has made the home office expenses deduction available to more Canadians, and simplified the way employees can claim these expenses on their personal income tax return for the 2020 tax year.

 Agency (CRA) for the following benefits as of Monday, October 5:
 - A Canada Recovery Caregiving Benefit (CRCB) of $500 per week for up to 26 weeks per household for workers unable to work for at least 50% of the week because they must care for a child under the age of 12 or family member because schools, day-cares or care facilities are closed due to COVID-19, or because the child or family member is sick and/or required to quarantine or is at high risk of serious health implications because of COVID-19; and,

- A Canada Recovery Sickness Benefit (CRSB) of $500 per week for up to a maximum of two weeks, for workers who are unable to work for at least 50% of the week because they contracted COVID-19, self-isolated for reasons related to COVID-19, or have underlying conditions, are undergoing treatments or have contracted other sicknesses that, in the opinion of a medical practitioner, nurse practitioner, person in authority, government or public health authority, would make them more susceptible to COVID-19.
- These benefits will be paid on a weekly basis, meaning Canadians will have to reapply each week they are eligible.
- Effective October 12, the CRA will open the applications for the Canada Recovery Benefit, which will provide eligible workers with $500 per week for up to 26 weeks for those who have stopped working and who are not eligible for EI, or had their employment/self-employment income reduced by at least 50% due to COVID-19.

- Canadians receiving El are eligible for a taxable benefit at a rate of at least $500 per week, or $300 per week for extended parental benefits.
- Returning to the EI program will allow claimants to benefit from the Working While on Claim rules.
 - These rules allow claimants to keep receiving part of their El benefits and all their earnings from work.
 - In addition, employers will once again be able to make use of registered Supplemental Unemployment Benefit (SUB) plans to provide support to employees.
- The EI program will also allow Canadians with 120 hours of insurable work or more to qualify by providing a temporary, one-time credit of 300 insurable hours for those claiming EI regular and work-sharing benefits.
 - Canadians claiming EI special benefits including maternity, parental, sickness, compassionate care, and family caregiver – will be provided with a temporary, one-time credit of 480 insurable hours.
- To ensure a smooth transition to EI, the majority of Canadians still receiving the CERB through Service Canada who are eligible for EI will be automatically transitioned.
 - Service Canada will contact all El clients to confirm whether they need to apply or are being transitioned automatically. Clients can also verify the status of their claim in their My Service Canada Account.
- As is normally the case, Canadians become eligible for their first El payment at the end of the two weeks that they are out of work.
 - This means, for example, that those switching to EI from CERB effective September 27, 2020, will be eligible for their first EI payment as of October 11.

 - El will now be available to more Canadians, including those who would not have qualified for El in the past, adding more than 400,000 people into the program.
 - Those receiving EI will be eligible for a taxable benefit rate of at least $400 per week, or $240 per week for extended parental benefits, and regular benefits will be accessible for a minimum duration of 26 weeks.
 - The government will also freeze the El insurance premium rates for two years, so Canadian workers and businesses will not face immediate increases to costs and payroll deductions due to the additional expenses resulting from the pandemic.
 - The government also announced that in preparation for this transition and to ensure support continues for Canadians whose employment has been impacted by the pandemic, the Canada Emergency Response Benefit (CERB) will be extended by an additional four weeks to a maximum of 28 weeks.
 - This means that for the many Canadians expecting to exhaust their CERB benefits at the end of August, they will now be able to access an additional month of support.
 - Additionally, to ensure Canadians receive the support they need during these challenging times, the Federal government is proposing three new benefits:
 - i. The Canada Recovery Benefit (CRB) will provide $400 per week for up to 26 weeks, to workers who are self-employed or are not

- 148. July 27th The Canada Revenue Agency announces an extension to the payment deadline and offers interest relief on outstanding tax debts during the COVID-19 pandemic
 - The Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) is extending the payment deadline and applying relief to interest on existing debt.
 - Payment Deadline Extension
 - The CRA is extending the payment due date for current year individual, corporate, and trust income tax returns, including instalment payments, from September 1, 2020, to September 30, 2020.
 - ii. Penalties and interest will not be charged if payments are made by the extended deadline of September 30, 2020.
 - iii. This includes the late-filing penalty as long as the return is filed by September 30, 2020.
 - Interest on Existing Tax Debt

- The CRA is also waiving interest on existing tax debts related to individual, corporate, and trust income tax returns from April 1, 2020, to September 30, 2020 and from April 1, 2020, to June 30, 2020, for goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax (GST/HST) returns.
- ii. While this measure for existing tax debts does not cancel penalties and interest already assessed on a taxpayer's account prior to this period, it ensures that a taxpayer's existing tax debt does not continue to grow through interest charges during this difficult time.
- iii. This measure provides immediate relief to impacted taxpayers.

Filing Returns

- The previously extended filing due dates for individual, corporate, and trust income tax returns remain unchanged.
- ii. However, the CRA will not impose late-filing penalties where a current year individual, corporation, or trust return is filed late provided that it is filed by September 30, 2020.
- iii. To ensure Canadians continue to receive their benefits and credits during the COVID-19 pandemic, the CRA temporarily suspended interruptions for those who were unable to file their income tax and benefit return by the June 1 deadline.
- iv. Currently, if a 2019 individual tax return has not been assessed, the CRA is calculating benefits and/or credits for the July to September 2020 payments based on information from 2018 tax returns.
- v. However, if 2019 individual tax returns are not received and assessed by early September 2020, estimated benefits and/ or credits will stop in October 2020 and individuals may have to repay the amounts that were issued as of July 2020
