

Shubha Kashinath is an Associate Professor in Speech, Language, and Hearing Sciences, California State University, East Bay. She received an M.S. in Speech and Hearing Sciences from the University of Arizona and a Ph.D. in Communicative Sciences and Disorders from Florida State University. Dr. Kashinath's research and teaching interests are focused on the efficacy of communication interventions for individuals with autism across the lifespan, caregiver focused interventions in natural environments, and personnel preparation in speech language pathology. She has served as President of the Asian Indian Caucus (AIC), a multicultural constituency group of the American Speech Language Hearing Association (ASHA) and as a member of the ASHA Multicultural Issues Board (MIB). She has over 20 years of clinical experience serving families of young children with disabilities.