

Kevin M. McNamara, M.A., CCC-SLP, ASHA Fellow, is the Clinical Director Emeritus in the Department of Communication Disorders at Southern Connecticut State University. Across a career spanning more than four decades, he has supported children and adults with a wide variety of communication needs, as well as serving as a clinical educator and program director. He has engaged in research and presented on the topic of clinical education, served on the 2016 American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA) Ad Hoc Committee on Supervision Training, and served as former Chair of the CAPCSD Clinical Education Resources Committee. Mr. McNamara was named an ASHA Fellow in 2019 due, in part, to his work in advancing best practices in clinical education and supervision.
