

Emily Falappino Biography

Emily Falappino is the President/CEO for the Greater Coachella Valley Chamber of Commerce – a regional organization dedicated to economic development, legislative advocacy, and community development concerns. Emily is a seasoned C-Suite Executive with a resume of building and scaling both for-profit and non-profit companies; however, her chief interest and mantra is to make every person and every place she encounters better, because of her presence and contributions.

Emily holds her MBA and serves on a wide variety of boards and committees, but touts her unconventional journey as a person and professional as her most important attributes. In Emily's own words, her bio begins with brokenness and ends with wholeness. As a mother, friend, sister, leader, and professional – she is a woman of impact and influence.
