WELCOME TO HISTORIC HUDSON!

On behalf of the city of Hudson, I extend a sincere welcome and encourage you to fully enjoy the amenities of our great community! Our charming, historic downtown is coupled with a great business climate and a beautiful riverside location. Whether you are a visitor or a current area resident, this booklet is designed to help you discover what's happening in Hudson.

No visit to Hudson would be complete without experiencing the beautiful St. Croix River. Along with boating and fishing opportunities, Lakefront Park offers a beautiful swimming beach, bathhouse, food vendor and strolling food cart, walking trails, and an expanded schedule of free summer concerts in the band shell. For more panoramic views of the river, stop by Prospect Park or Birkmose Park, or visit the Hudson Area Library at 700 First St.

All are invited to attend the annual celebrations of Hudson Booster Days and Yellowstone Trail Heritage Day in July, the North Hudson Pepper Fest in August, the Spirit of the St. Croix Days Art Festival in Lakefront Park in September, the Christmas Tour of Homes and other holiday events in November and December, and the Hot Air Affair (hot air balloon festival) in February. The Phipps Center for the Arts also offers an excellent series of concerts and plays, plus music, art and dance classes. Throughout the year, many other family-friendly events are held to help fund and support our local emergency services and other worthwhile clubs and organizations.

Our historic downtown district continues to attract visitors to the charming shops and many unique local restaurants, plus seasonal events such as free classic car shows and the annual holiday Light Up Night. And our expanding business districts near I-94 offer many more new opportunities for dining and shopping.

We take pride in making Hudson a great place to live, work or visit. If you're a tourist, perhaps a visit to an open house or one of our housing developments might convince you to become a resident.

Again, welcome to Hudson! We hope this guide will help you enjoy the experience.

WE HEART HUDSON

RESTAURANTS!

With a dynamic historic business district and booming business growth "on the hill," Hudson has become one of the premier shopping and dining destinations in the Twin Cities metro and the upper Midwest.

Located along the banks of the beautiful St. Croix River, historic downtown Hudson is home to numerous locally owned restaurants offering a wide array of cuisines. These restaurants have become famous for their outstanding food, craft beer and cocktail offerings, beautiful settings, and great service.

Before and after dining, locals and visitors alike enjoy downtown Hudson's unique and locally owned shops. It's not uncommon to see groups of shoppers carrying bags full of one-of-a-kind items including clothing, art, jewelry, antiques, books, home furnishings and hand-crafted chocolates.

Great dining and shopping is not limited to Hudson's historic downtown. Along Interstate 94 "on the hill," residents and visitors frequent a myriad of both large chains and smaller local stores and restaurants.

Great shopping and customer service can be found at well-established novelty family markets as well as in more boutique locations. The variety includes both casual dining and big-box conveniences, all within a short commute.

Located in Hudson and to the east and south through Wisconsin's rolling hills and scenic countryside, there are an array of enchanting wineries. For more fun, stroll Downtown Hudson's main street for local breweries and artisan ales. Menus at the newest dining venues feature small plates and crafted cocktails.

Several new commercial developments are in the planning stages in Hudson. These new projects promise to add to Hudson's reputation as the St. Croix Valley's go to location for shopping, dining and entertainment.

BIKING

For information on area trails contact Art Doyle's Spokes and Pedals, 607 Second St., Hudson, 715-386-8500. ### BIRDING

Willow River State Park (1034 County Road A) has varied habitats to explore. The prairies provide good looks at Grasshopper and Clay-colored Sparrows, Eastern and Western Meadowlarks, Bobolinks and Sedge Wrens. Along the edges of the prairies in the shrub layer, look for Gray Catbirds, House Wrens, and Indigo Buntings. Fields and woodlands hold Eastern Bluebirds, Tree Swallows, Scarlet Tanagers and Rose-breasted Grosbeaks.

Sally Shepherd/RiverTown Multimedia

County Road A, Hudson, Wis.

The Willow River State Wildlife Area and Three Lakes National Waterfowl Production Area

is featured by prairie potholes, small, shallow lakes that are rare in Wisconsin. Surrounded by open grassland, they are irresistible to marshland songbirds and waterfowl of all types such as Ruddy Ducks, Blue-wing, and Northern Shoveler in good numbers. Herons, egrets and gulls use the area along with Pied-billed Grebes. The grasslands are often home to Sedge Wrens, Dickcissels, Bobolinks, Western Meadowlarks, and the Common Yellow throated Warblers, as well as Grasshopper Sparrows, Northern Harriers and Short-eared Owls. Directions: Take County Road A north from Willow River State Park one mile to Burkhardt Road east to County Road E. Then follow E east for one mile. The lakes will be south of the road.

The Hudson area has also been home to several American Bald Eagles. Eagles can often be spotted hunting over the St. Croix River and Lake Mallalieu when the ice goes out in early spring. Trumpeter swans have also been known to frequent the south end of Lake Mallalieu. The endangered birds have made a great comeback in Wisconsin which at last count was 100 nesting pairs. As long as the weather is mild the birds will spread out in the open waters off the St. Croix, Apple and Willow rivers.

A BUSTLING LOCAL ECONOMY

Hudson continues to be one of the fastest growing communities in Wisconsin and the Twin Cities metropolitan area. The Hudson area — which includes the city of Hudson, the village of North Hudson and the towns of Troy, St. Joseph and Hudson — has a population of more than 38,000. That is an increase of more than 25 percent over the last decade.

With the conveniences, amenities and workforce of the city along with the affordability and lifestyle of a small town, St. Croix Business Park offers an ideal place for business, industry and commerce.

Located on Interstate-94, this mixed-use state-of-the-art business park offers larger parcels suited for employment centers or distribution warehouses, as well as smaller parcels well matched for any number of business applications - all only 15 minutes east of St. Paul, Minnesota, and 25 minutes from the Minneapolis/St. Paul International Airport.

The park's location in Hudson on the I-94 corridor leads directly to the Minneapolis/St. Paul metropolitan area but without the high costs, traffic and red tape that often come with doing business in the big-city. To learn more, visit www.stcroixbusinesspark.com

While the industrial and business parks represent large blocks of businesses, smaller developments are located in Hudson, North Hudson and in the townships. In addition, the Hudson area has seen an explosion of retail businesses in recent years, from smaller one-of-a-kind shops to national chains.

The St. Croix Economic Development Corporation was formed in 1993 and operates as the independent economic development arm for St. Croix County. St. Croix EDC lists over 100 public and private sector members that provide financial support or in-kind services to its successful operation.

Among the many activities it does, the St. Croix Economic Development Corporation:

- Monitors business markets and provides information to members
- Maintains critical data on employment, financing and business activities
- Interfaces with state and federal elected officials on legislative issues
- Governed by a 19-member board with representatives from public and private organizations

If you're a local, regional, national or international business looking to begin, relocate or expand, connect with us and find out all the possibilities that St. Croix County has to offer. Visit stcroixedc.com
