

TOM CONNOR

Service Award

Award winner honorarium presented by WEEK and The Companies That Care

This award is named for Tom Connor – or Emil Sepich, Jr. As Tom Connor, he was a recognized broadcaster for WEEK-TV. As Emil, he was less known but equally important and valuable in his volunteer work. Emil put forth an astounding amount of time and effort to make our community a better place to live and work.

The Tom Connor Service Award is presented to a tri-county individual who has shown outstanding long-term commitment to the community. Nominees are judged by length of service, impact of participation to community members, and overall contribution to the community.

The 2021 Tom Connor Service Award will be presented at the Peoria Area Chamber of Commerce Annual Community Thanksgiving Luncheon on November 18, 2021 at Peoria Civic Center.

Please attach responses to the following. Nominations are limited to eight typewritten pages at 12 point font, including letters of recommendation.

1. Indicate the number of years the nominee has participated in community service within the region.
2. Describe the three most significant community service areas that the nominee has been involved with, and their impact.
3. How aggressive has the nominee been in starting up driving programs and/or services?
4. Include any pertinent data which you feel would support your candidate. Letters of recommendation may be included, but are not required.
