DISCOUNT AVAILABLE FOR INTERNET

Act now to take advantage of the Emergency Broadband Benefit Program

Now more than ever, it's important to have accessible, affordable internet.

To make this a reality, Cox is working to ensure eligible households can receive discounts through the Emergency Broadband Benefit Program.

This government-funded program, which is open to all eligible Americans for only a limited time, is available to provide temporary financial assistance for internet service. Eligible families may qualify to receive up to $50 off their monthly bill based on their current internet service and equipment rental, or up to $75 if they live in a tribal area for as long as government funds remain available. Through the program and our partnership with PCs for People, households are also eligible to receive a one-time discount of $100 towards a laptop or desktop computer.

As the Emergency Broadband Benefit Program is open for just a limited time to all Americans – not just Cox customers – it's important to apply as soon as possible.

FCC EBB offers discounts to eligible households for a limited time; Non-transferrable; one per household. You remain responsible for monthly payment to Cox. Discount ends when fund is expended or six months after Emergency Period as defined in the Consolidated Appropriations Act, whichever is sooner. After EBB, Cox's regular rates apply, which are subject to change. See cox.com for current regular rates. Application and eligibility decisions are made by the FCC.
