

Roles and Responsibilities

- WSSCC supports the direction provided by the CPHO
- We continues to work with employers and workers to complete Exposure Control Plans
- Inspectors will then conduct Inspections at workplaces

Reopening Safely

As employers are allowed to resume business, they must have an Exposure Control Plan in place that:

- looks at the risk of COVID-19 transmission in their workplace, and
- outlines how employers and workers will manage that risk.

Why an Exposure Control Plan?

- Determine workers' risk of exposure to the virus;
- Inform workers of their risk of exposure while at the worksite; and
- Outline how the employer will manage to eliminate or reduce those risks.

COVID-19 Risk Assessment and Worksite Precautions

This is a tool for the employer, with workers, to:

- identify the risks you need to eliminate or minimize, and
- determine the steps you will take to protect Workers

Field Level Risk Assessment (FLRA)

Workers complete the FLRA at the worksite.

The assessment should

- highlight specific areas where the worker can be exposed to COVID-19 virus at the site, and
- Ensure that the controls identified in the Exposure Control Plan are in place before work begins.

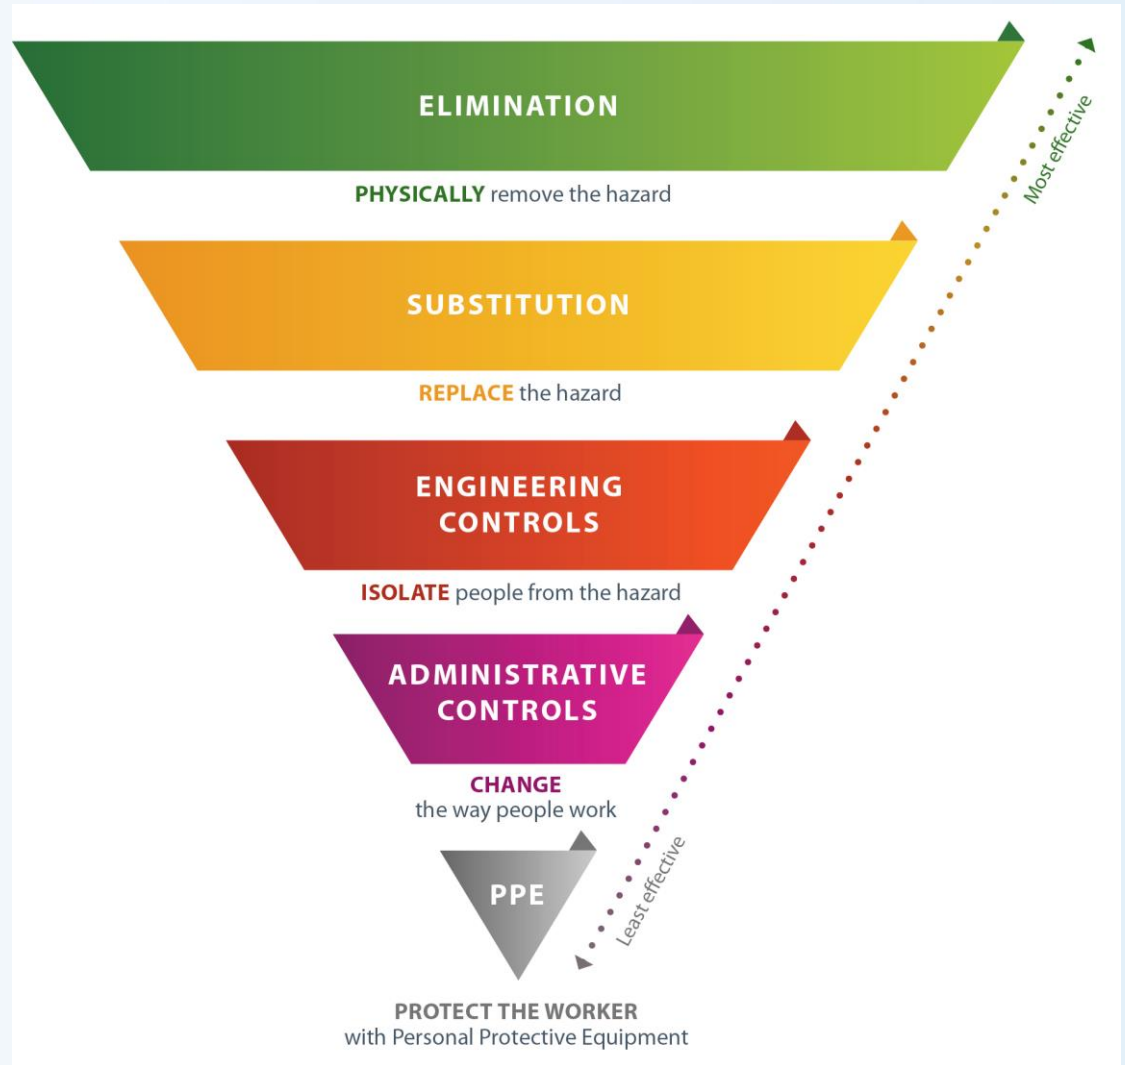

COVID-19 Transmission Risks in the Workplace

Person to Person transmission can happen because of:

- Challenges maintaining 2 meters of distance
- Different people in the workplace (such as, customers or clients)
- The potential for group interaction
- The chance of infected people being present
- Self isolation practices not being followed properly

Regular contact with shared surfaces increases likelihood of transmission.

Hierarchy of Controls

The Rights of Every Worker

Regardless of employment status (full-time, part-time, temporary, etc.), all workers have 3 fundamental rights.

- The Right to Know – training and education
- The Right to Participate – taking part of your risk assessment and hazard control policy and procedure development.
- The Right to Refuse unsafe work.

Remember...

- The mental health of your workers is as important as their physical health.
- Workers working from home have the same rights to a safe workplace.
- WSCC's continues to develop and update resources to follow the guidelines of NWT and NU health authorities orders.
- It is important to stay informed.

WSCC is Available to Help

- Email us at: COVID-19@wsccl.nt.ca
- Call us at: 1 (800) 661-0792
- WSCC has web pages with COVID-19 information and resources.
- Follow us on Facebook and Twitter to see new resources as they are published.

Your health and safety is our number one priority. To help prevent the spread of COVID-19, WSCC offices are closed to visitors.
Visit our COVID-19 page for important service updates and download Risk Assessments and Worksite Precaution Planning for COVID-19 for Employers.

Careers | Contact Us | Legislation | Policy

English | Français | ፊደላዊ

WSCC Workers' Safety & Compensation Commission | ልዩ ልዩ ልማትና የሥራ ጉዳይ ጥያቄ ማስፈጸም

-  HEALTH & SAFETY
- EMPLOYER SERVICES
- CLAIMS SERVICES
- RETURN TO WORK
- ABOUT WSCC

CORONAVIRUS (COVID-19)

Staying Safe at Work and WSCC Service Updates

More

• • • •

Thank you

Please contact us with any concerns regarding re-opening your business and maintaining safe operations.

COVID-19@wscc.nt.ca