Our #1 asset

MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

Classrooms across the region are abuzz again.

Little ones are bright-eyed with wonder as the mysteries of reading and math unfold for them. Many make friends they'll keep for a lifetime. Teens – and adults, too – chart paths that will shape their life's work. Back-to-school season is a critical time for students entering the classroom, but it's also important for the rest of us.

Numerous communities nationally claim to have the “best” schools. In Johnson County, this isn't an idle boast. We've long known our K-12 districts are a critical ingredient in the secret sauce of Johnson County's success. No family moves, or stays, if a public school system doesn't provide the best opportunities for their children's future. Businesses locate in communities whose educational infrastructure supports the families they employ AND provide an educated workforce pipeline for their future.

Fortunately for us, we have this. But it's not due to luck. It's intentional.

For decades, our communities have invested in the infrastructure necessary to provide the best public education for our kids and future workforce. We've done that by electing thoughtful and visionary school board representatives who then hired committed professional staff to handle the administration of our districts and the education of kids. (As a reminder, this is an election year. You can learn more about the school board candidates for your district here.) Our electorate also has approved bond issues necessary to invest in the capital infrastructure to support the growth of our community and provide the facilities, safety and technology needed for daily instruction of our students.

The beginning of the school year is the perfect time to assess your engagement with our schools. Our districts have numerous ways for businesses to partner. Each has an education foundation you can financially support to enhance resources for our educators and their classrooms. You can also contact our Chamber's talent team if you'd like to pursue deeper connections through real-world learning opportunities. Andrew and Courtney will make it easy for you to find an education partnership that will be rewarding for you and for the student you work with. Contact them at aweisberg@opchamber.org and ccavlovic@opchamber.org. You'll add significantly to the student's learning experience by sharing your expertise, and at the same time, you'll help students learn more about the great career opportunities our region offers. These students are our future – help us recruit them to stay!

McCownGordon named ESOP of the Year; unveils LongHouse at Arboretum

CORPORATE SPONSOR SPOTLIGHT

Recently named Employee Stock Ownership Plan (ESOP) of the Year by the Heart of America Chapter of the ESOP Association, McCownGordon is proud to be 100% employee owned.

The company’s goal for every project is to deliver the best building experience and enhance the journey for their associates, clients, partners and community.

For McCownGordon, a key component of enhancing the journey includes making a positive impact and contributing to the communities in which our associates live, work, and play. One of those communities is Overland Park, where McCownGordon has successfully completed more than 100 projects, 14 of those contracted directly with the City.

The company recently completed the new visitors center at the Overland Park Arboretum. Inspired by nature, the new LongHouse Visitors Center functions as a multipurpose building by hosting community meetings and large social events such as weddings, receptions and exhibits. Additional amenities include a community room, gift shop, café Celeste, outdoor patio and the waterside terrace.

LongHouse Visitor Center at the Overland Park Arboretum and Botanical Gardens.

The 21,000 square-foot space blends nature and architecture seamlessly, while offering panoramic views to the outdoor areas of the Overland Park Arboretum & Botanical Gardens. The design elements tell a story and are a testament to the brilliance of the design. For instance, the idea to combine heavy steel and timber for the center’s frame was inspired by and modeled after structures in nature. This innovative design allows for floor to ceiling windows, letting in an abundance of natural daylight and offering a picturesque setting.

After many years of developing and envisioning this project, the City of Overland Park celebrates the grand opening of the LongHouse Visitor Center in September 2023.

Approaching its 25th anniversary, McCownGordon Construction is recognized as one of the nation’s largest construction managers serving the Midwest and South-Central regions from four offices – Kansas City, Mo.; Dallas-Fort Worth; Wichita and Manhattan, Kan. The construction firm offers robust services for new construction, renovations and additions for a diverse market mix including civic, corporate, science and technology, healthcare, higher education, K-12 education, and manufacturing.
