The SnoValley Chamber is a Regional Chamber of Commerce, serving the business communities of Fall City, North Bend, Preston, Snoqualmie and Snoqualmie Pass.

The Snoqualmie Valley is defined by the beautiful Cascade Mountains, creeks, and rivers that all flow into the Snoqualmie River. The rich history of the valley originated with receding glaciers that produced distinguished large hard rock mountains, which include Mt Si, Little Si, Rattlesnake Ridge, Mailbox Peak, and many other mountains.

North Bend is headquarters for hiking with over a dozen major trail heads with varying levels of steepness and length, with interesting canyons, thick forests and amazing waterfalls. For the hearty hiker there are amazing views from the top of each peak which surround our valley.

Located just west of downtown Snoqualmie, Snoqualmie Falls is impressively tall at 268 feet and a must-see destination. Over 2 million visitors enjoy the Falls each year.

Our valley offers a variety of incredible options for live entertainment almost every night of the week depending on the season, which include live theatre, jazz, folk, rock and blues music, poetry readings and other forms of entertainment including our wildly popular Snoqualmie Casino.

We encourage you to explore this amazing business guide as well as going to our SnoValley Chamber website to keep fully informed about the wonderful resources our valley has to offer, a place where the only thing missing is you!

If you would like to come join and grow your business with us, check us out at snovalley.org.

ALL ABOARD A LIVING RAIL MUSEUM

The Northwest Railway Museum has all the bells and whistles!

Washington State changed forever when the Northern Pacific Railroad reached Tacoma in 1883. In a few short years, the rails led nearly everywhere, and the Snoqualmie Valley was no exception. The Northwest Railway Museum tells this story of settlement and development in the Snoqualmie Depot, aboard the train, and on the Museum campus on Stone Quarry Road. Climb aboard for both adventure and enlightenment.

Incorporating more than five miles of Victorian-era railway and the 1890-built Snoqualmie Depot, the Museum is like no other: antique trains operate weekends from April 'til October and operate to transport visitors not to another place, but to another time. The exhibit galleries are open daily in the summer, and with reduced hours in the spring and fall. Yet no matter when you visit, there are a multitude of "train"ing opportunities!

For more information visit the at Northwest Railway Museum at TrainMuseum.org, or call (425) 888-3030.

Fall City is a family friendly, scenic Snoqualmie Valley unincorporated community located approximately 26 miles east of Seattle nestled along the banks of the Snoqualmie and Raging Rivers.

The rivers, trails and surrounding farms play a major role in drawing visitors to this area. In the summer and fall, fishing, river floating or playing along the broad beautiful, gently sloping shoreline offer residents and visitors lots of recreational opportunities. Fall City also offers year-round access to the Preston-Fall City and Snoqualmie Valley trails for hikers, bikers and horseback riders. Valley farms and roadside stands supply fresh flowers and vegetables.

Fall City is a perfect day trip any time of year. Start your morning at Aroma Coffee, Fall City's newest gathering place and community hub. Located inside a historic farmhouse at the edge of town, this quaint café's coffee is as delightful as the conversations happening within it. From there, take a self-guided walking tour, browse the many antique and consignment shops, dine at any one of the locally owned restaurants or pick up local produce and picnic favorites from the farm fresh market for lunch or dinner in the park or along the riverbank.

As you stroll through town, keep an eye out for historical plaques, brochures for your self-guided tour and pop-up displays. The Fall City Historical Society preserves the rich history of this small town by sharing the stories from past generations throughout the community.

The Fall City Metropolitan Park District and King County Parks are continually improving recreational opportunities in Fall City. Known for its trails, camping and river float trips, Fall City is one of Western Washington's best kept secrets.

If old growth forests and one of a kind overnight experiences sound enticing, it's time to go "To The Trees!", as Treehouse Masters and Tree House Point founder Pete Nelson loves to say. Spend the night in one of several masterfully designed and crafted tree houses. Enjoy a warm evening by the bon fire and a farm to table country breakfast served on the grounds with the birds, squirrels and local wildlife keeping you company.

The colors of autumn come alive early October and so do the local farms that call Fall City home. Pumpkin patches and fall produce are abundant along Hwy 203. Both Fall City Farms and Remlinger Farms, just down the road in Carnation, are known by locals as places to visit for fall family fun.

Visit Fall City's calendar of events at snovalley.org.

North Bend is a fascinating community that brings together a blend of historic small-town charm and a contemporary hipster vibe.

Many of the buildings and shops have called North Bend home for generations including the historic North Bend Theater. Having just celebrated its 80th anniversary, this one screen movie theater is everything you would love from an early 1900's motion picture house including its original velvet red chairs. Catch new releases and classic favorites for much less than chain theaters.

North Bend's rich history brings a certain charm and character that has attracted newer businesses in recent years. The culinary and nightlife scene in North Bend is surprisingly robust given the small town feel of the community.

Elk in the Valley

MOUNTAIN LIFE

Elk Viewing in the wild!
Don't forget to bring your camera!

- Always observe from a distance, preferably downwind.
- Use binoculars or spotting scopes.
- Talk and move quietly; minimize sharp sounds.
- Early morning and twilight are ideal times to see animals; also check nearby fields for herds.
- Do not disturb animals in mating season, particularly bull elk in the fall rutting season.
- Never come between a mother and her offspring.
- If an animal becomes nervous or moves away, you are too close.
- Pets should stay home.
- For Safety, park at Centennial Field.

See Wild Elk!

In the Snoqualmie Valley!

Bring a camera! You can watch the upper Snoqualmie Valley's wild elk enjoy the open fields of Meadowbrook Farm Park from your car, or a paved, ADA accessible walking trail! This historic public open space is at the center of the 500-member elk herd's home range and offers multiple walking trails and car pull-outs for wildlife viewing.

While the elk may shelter in the trees during heavy rains, mornings and late afternoon or evenings are the best times to look for them, especially during summer and fall. Don't see an elk right away? Drive slowly around the perimeter of the Park—the elk may be in a nearby field. Walk quietly into one of the hidden fields. Visit the Snoqualmie Falls, sample the Valley's dining, breweries and shops, and look again for elk a bit later. Enjoy your visit to this unique public park!

Just 30 miles east of Seattle and minutes from Snoqualmie Falls!

The most prestigious rally school in all of North America.

Nestled in the foothills of the Cascade Mountain Range in the scenic town of Snoqualmie, WA, DirtFish Rally School was established in 2010 with the idea that the exciting sport of rally should be accessible to everyone.

The best drivers are able to drive on any surface, at any time, in any weather. Park at the Interpretive Center, and enjoy the views of Mount Si!

Round trip approximately 2.25 miles; good all year, but boots advised in winter!

Little Si Trailhead

This popular hike is perfect for your four legged friends.

The small rocky bluff known as Little Si is the neighbor and little brother Mount Si.

Little Si is a moderately graded 3.7 mile trail located in the hike rich North Bend area. The trail's proximity to the city and a degree of refuge from the elements often divert heavy foot traffic to this mini-mountain, keeping it busy year round.

Snoqualmie Falls

The short trail to the base of Snoqualmie Falls during high water levels is really more of an experience than a true hike. Dogs on leash are welcome.

The trail is a tourist stroll on a nice day, but the falls often are at their most dramatic during bad weather.

Snoqualmie Falls is the most famous waterfall in our state. It is 268 feet high with the width ranging from 50 to 150 feet, depending on water levels.

CITY ABOVE THE FALLS

Snoqualmie is best known for Snoqualmie Falls, a breathtaking waterfall cascading 268 feet over granite cliffs. As one of Washington's most popular scenic attractions, the Snoqualmie Falls brings over 2 million tourists to the area annually.

Not all those visitors are making their way to the Falls to take in the glorious views and park, some are coming to get a glimpse of famous attractions from 90s cult classic show Twin Peaks. Salish Lodge and Spa is one of Washington's premiere destinations and a treat for anyone desiring a luxurious resort experience. With that said, Salish plays the role as The Great Northern Hotel well and offers Twin Peaks fans a selection of show inspired merchandise at The Country Store located inside the Lodge and photo opportunities to satisfy a lifetime of fandom.

Historic downtown Snoqualmie also provides visitors with many opportunities to dine, shop and grab those can't miss photos! Located along the Snoqualmie River, historic downtown has the quintessential small-town vibe, but unlike most towns, this town was built along the railway line and is home to the Historic Snoqualmie Depot built in 1890. The Snoqualmie Depot, now property of the Northwest Railway Museum, is the oldest continuously operating train depot in the state operating from the late 1800's to the 1970's. The Northwest Railway Museum proudly serves to provide guests with the rich history of the railroad and offers rides from downtown to Snoqualmie Falls and North Bend.

Downtown Snoqualmie is the ideal daytrip or afternoon outing with many dining options. If a refreshing brew or glass of wine is on the menu, look no further. Snoqualmie is home to several locally owned breweries and wineries that will satisfy your thirst. Wine drinkers have several wineries and tasting rooms to choose from.

A mile up the Snoqualmie Parkway is Snoqualmie Ridge, a master planned residential community complete with schools, miles of trails, open spaces, parks, athletic fields and a quaint shopping and dining district. Consistently named among Washington's safest communities, both Snoqualmie Ridge and downtown are a perfect place to raise a family.

One of Snoqualmie's newest draws located on Snoqualmie Ridge is Sno-King Ice Arena which offers everything from hockey leagues and figure skating to ice skating lessons and public skate. The Ridge is also home to The Club at Snoqualmie Ridge, a Jack Nicklaus Signature Design Course and host club of the Boeing Classic.

Just one exit up from Hwy18 on I-90E sits Snoqualmie Casino and Crescent Market. Owned by the Snoqualmie Tribe, the Snoqualmie Casino is the largest private employer in the Snoqualmie Valley providing guests a top-tier gaming experience, 5 dining venues, a cigar lounge and in non-COVID times year-round entertainment. # Snoqualmie Indian Tribe

WELCOME TO OUR VALLEY

The Snoqualmie People have been here for time immemorial – thousands of years. We welcome you to our homelands.

We are taught that the Transformer, Moon, changed the land to be what it is today for the People. The Snoqualmie Valley provided us with everything we could ever want. Even today, though there have been many changes and impacts, our Valley is an abundance of resources and beauty. From our mountains following our Snoqualmie River and water ways through the Valley, we live in one of the most beautiful and unique places.

You are standing on the Indigenous Land of the Coast Salish peoples who have reserved treaty rights to this land, specifically the Snoqualmie Indian Tribe (sdukwalbixw). We are the original stewards of this land and we continue to advocate for all of our homelands to this day.

We invite you to join the estimated 2 million annual visitors from around the world at our sacred Snoqualmie Falls. This sacred site is a special place in this region and continues to be a place of gathering as it has for time immemorial.

When visiting and experiencing our Valley, please keep in mind the long history of this area and the unbroken connections the Snoqualmie People have here. This has always been our home and it is our duty to protect and steward our homelands. Please be mindful as you take part in recreating in our home.

The Snoqualmie Indian Tribe is a federally-recognized sovereign Indian Tribe and a signatory to the Treaty of Point Elliott of 1855. The Tribal Government headquarters are located in East King County.

The Summit has a long-standing tradition of offering value-based season passes for local skiers and snowboarders, as well as beginner lesson and rental packages that make it easy and affordable to become a lifelong skier or snowboarder. The Summit at Snoqualmie is currently closed during the summer, but there is still plenty of outdoor fun at Snoqualmie Pass during the warmer months. You'll find endless miles of trails to hike, all providing a unique journey through the stunningly beautiful Central Cascades and Alpine Lakes Wilderness. You can also take your adventure to the water on one of the many local lakes by way of kayak or canoe. Taking a dip in the clean mountain water is a great way to cool off after a hike on a hot summer's day.

Emergency Preparedness

Are You Ready for a Disaster? At any time, a disaster could strike and affect you and your family. From flooding to snowfall or from long term power outages to pandemic flu, we are all vulnerable, and we all should be prepared. 48% of Americans are not ready - are you?

Earthquake

The Snoqualmie Valley and the Seattle Metropolitan area is prone to earthquakes. Many fault lines run through the region and can shift at any time. Do you know what to do if an earthquake strikes? First, protect yourself from injury. If driving, pull your car to the side of the road until the shaking stops. If you are outside, stay away from buildings. If you are inside, drop – cover – and hold on:

If you are in bed, lay face down and cover your head and neck with a pillow. Do not run outside, and do not stand in a doorway. For more on earthquake safety, go to ready.gov/earthquakes

Earthquakes happen almost every day in Washington State, although most are not large enough to realize. Large earthquakes are rare but are likely to happen in your lifetime. Being prepared BEFORE the quake happens is very important. Here are a few things you can do now to better prepare yourself if an earthquake happens in your community:

- Prepare to be without electricity, water, natural gas, phones, gas for your vehicles, or access to internet (Grocery stores may be without power or closed for an extended period).
- Be prepared for at least five days on your own.
- Make an emergency response plan for your family.
- Know hazards around you. For example, earthquakes can trigger landslides.
- Participate in the yearly “Great Shake Out” drills.

When an earthquake does happen, you need to know what to do. Drop to your hands and knees, cover your head and hold on. Stay covered and protected until after the shaking stops. Keep far away from anything that can fall on you or break and cause injuries. It is very important that you practice these steps above, so you know what to do if an earthquake happens.

Winter Safety Tips

The Snoqualmie Valley and Seattle metropolitan region have been hit with some significant winter events. In 2019, three-feet of snow fell in the North Bend, WA area confining people to their homes for multiple days. Do you know what to do if a winter storm hits the region? The following are some recommendations on how to be prepared for a winter storm. First, stay off the roads. Driving on unplowed roads can be slippery or cause you to get stuck. Once stuck, plows and other emergency vehicles may not be able to pass. It is best to stay put in your warm house. You should also be prepared for power outages. Limbs with heavy snow may break and cause power outages.

The Puget Sound Energy (PSE) outage map: pse.com/outage/outage-map can be beneficial in learning where power is out and for how long. If you have a generator, make sure it is run outside away from the house, as this will prevent accidental carbon monoxide poisoning.

Go to: ready.gov/winter-weather for more winter weather tips.

Drowning Prevention

Drowning is a preventable tragedy and an important public health and safety issue. Warm weather draws people to lakes, rivers and saltwater areas. This creates high risk situations for the individual, others, and rescuers. Swimmers, boaters, and other water recreationists should follow these recommendations to prevent drownings:

- Know the risks - Rivers are cold and the water moves fast. Waters are often cold enough to cause muscles to cease and cramp, even on the hottest summer day. Cold water can weaken even the strongest swimmer.
- Learn to swim, including water safety and survival skills - To enjoy the water safely, learn swim strokes, water safety, survival skills, and become comfortable in the water.
- Wear a lifejacket - Always wear a U.S. Coast Guard approved lifejacket when boating, tubing, paddle boarding, rafting, swimming or when participating in other activities in or on the water.
- Swim where there is a lifeguard - Swim in areas with lifeguards when possible.
- Supervise children in or near water - Always provide close and constant attention to children you are supervising in or near water.
- Do not use alcohol or drugs during water activities - Never use alcohol or other impairing drugs during water and boating activities, or while supervising children around the water.
- Learn first aid and CPR - Eastside Fire & Rescue provides public CPR/First Aid training. Register today at Eastsidefire-rescue.org.

Eastside Fire & Rescue and Local 2878 Benevolent Fund have personal floatation device (PFD) loaner stations at several locations in the community.

There are three life jacket loaner stations located at Lake Sammamish State Park, one station at Rattlesnake Lake, and two stations in Fall City on the Snoqualmie River. The program is funded by: Seattle Children's Hospital, King County Drowning Prevention Network, Paris White Foundation, and Eastside Firefighters Benevolent Fund.

Wildfire

Wildfires are becoming a popular topic in western Washington. This threat is increasing, and residents should be aware of how to protect themselves from fire. The following are some tips on how to protect your house against wildfire. First, create a green space around your property. Grass and other less green-trees slow the spread of fire. It is also essential to keep your gutter and roof clear of dried debris. It can catch fire and put your home at risk. Remove dead and dry materials from around your yard. And, limb-up dry trees approximately six to ten feet up from the ground. This will prevent ground fires from burning up a tree and starting a massive wildfire.

For more information on wildfires, go to:

nfpa.org/Public-Education/Fire-causes-and-risks/Wildfire/Wildfire-safety-tips.

Preparedness Kits

Do you have 3 to 7 days of water, food, medication, first aid kit, baby supplies, and cash? Do you have copies of essential documents such as insurance policies, passport, and driver's license?

All these items should be kept in a safe place that is easily accessible in the event a disaster strikes. Either homemade or commercially bought preparedness kits work great.

Go to ready.gov/kit to learn more about preparedness kits.
