Gardener. Grandmother. Banker. Diane McCord helps our community grow.

Diane takes care of her customers. Helping each one is like tending her garden or caring for her family. . . all full of promise and potential.

As Bank of Clarendon's lead mortgage officer, Diane's a great example of how our bank does business. And there are many more on our team just like her. . . all working hard for you and your neighbors.

Warm smiles. Genuine care. Banking knowledge. That's local banking — the Bank of Clarendon way.

The Greater Sumter Chamber of Commerce is pleased to present our 2019-2020 Guide to Sumter. With over 800 businesses and organizations represented in our extensive guide, you will easily be able to find reputable businesses and organizations to meet your every need right here in our community.

In this guide, there is an alphabetical listing of all our members followed by a category listing similar to the yellow pages. We encourage everyone to do business with our members listed in this book. These are the businesses that give back and support our community and help Sumter grow and thrive. These are not just businesses, they are our family, neighbors, and friends. Some of our members have been serving our community for almost a century.

Every time you make the choice to spend your money here in Sumter, you also help strengthen the entire community. Businesses in our community provide jobs for residents of all ages therefore making it possible for natives to stay local while also bringing in influxes of new, diverse community members who want to make Sumter their home. Our schools, parks, and roads depend greatly on the tax dollars provided by our local businesses. When we shop at home, especially with our fellow Chamber members, we help all of Sumter grow.

The Chamber Guide is more than just a business directory; it is also a guide full of information about our wonderful community. Information on Sumter's long history, our government, local industries, tourism, and healthcare are included. Whether you're a lifetime resident or a visitor passing through, you can find everything you need to know about our great community in the Guide to Sumter.

Thank you for supporting Sumter, and for taking the time to examine the Chamber's 2019-2020 Guide to Sumter. Every day the Chamber is working in many ways to help improve our community. Our mission is to promote an ideal business environment which supports growth and total community development. If you are not a member of the Greater Sumter Chamber of Commerce, we invite you to join us in making Sumter a better place to Live, Learn, Work, Play, and Stay!

WELCOME TO SUMTER

Welcome to Sumter, SC, the Gamecock City. Sumter was named for Revolutionary War hero and military genius General Thomas Sumter, known as the "Fighting Gamecock."

Nestled in East-Central SC, Sumter is "in the middle of everything." Close to the beach, the mountains, and everything in between, easy access to interstates 20, 26, 77 and 95 makes for a quick trip anywhere in the state. The county seat of Sumter County, the city of Sumter was once known as Sumterville, but the name was shortened in 1855. During the Civil War the town was an important supply and railroad repair center for the Confederacy, and after the war, grew by using its large railroad network to supply cotton, timber, and tobacco to the region.

During the 20th century, Sumter grew into a major industrial center. In 1941, Sumter became increasingly known for textiles, manufacturing, biotech industries, a thriving retail environment and medical center of its region in addition to agricultural products. These industries, coupled with the centralized location and easy interstate access, make Sumter a hub for business in the east central portion of South Carolina.

Sumter is nationally recognized as being the first community to implement the council-manager system of local governance; a system which has become the nation's most-used form of authority. Nearly 2,600 municipalities have followed Sumter's lead within the U.S.

There are 29 public schools in the Sumter School District; 11 are accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and 3 are nationally recognized as Blue Ribbon Schools. In addition to its public schools, Sumter offers a number of acclaimed private and church-affiliated schools. In 2016 the Chamber adopted a partnership initiative to bring schools access to more resources. The Partners in Education program will bring business and education together through mentoring, adopt-a-school, and other volunteerism. No matter where your children attend classes, they will get nothing but the best.

Eight institutions of higher learning provide a multitude of classes for those wanting to further their education post high school including the state of the art Advanced Manufacturing Technology Training Center opened by Central Carolina Technical College in 2016.

Should any health concern arise, Palmetto Health Tuomey can take care of you. Located in the heart of the city, this facility is more than 100 years strong. With its large hospital staff, and two medical buildings housing multiple physicians and specialists, the hospital system is one of the largest employers in the county.

Shaw Air Force Base is home to the 20th Fighter Wing, 9th Air Force, USCENTAF, and U.S. Army Central. The 6,000-plus airmen and soldiers stationed there are a treasured part of the community. The Gamecock City takes pride in its slogan, "Uncommon Patriotism," and opens its arms to the men and women of the U.S. Armed Forces.

With just over 40,000 residents, Sumter has much to offer. This city is ideal for any and all who find themselves here, whether for peaceful solitude or active fun with family or friends. There is something for everyone; parks, recreation, festivals and athletics. Food, fun, and locally owned businesses give Sumter that small town feel.

The arts are a rich part of Sumter's identity as well. Sumter's Opera House is probably one of the best-known landmarks; with its towering, 100-foot clock tower, the Opera House is a legend in its own right. With all this to offer and more, it's no wonder Sumter is a part of the state slogan "smiling faces, beautiful places." Sumter might not be your hometown, but you will certainly feel at home when you are here. So again, welcome!

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The mission of the Greater Sumter Chamber of Commerce is "To promote an ideal business environment that promotes total community growth," all its work is focused on making that mission a reality for the community every single day. Together, the Chamber and the community work to break barriers and forge the strong bonds that secure a better tomorrow, not for the good of a few, but for all. The Chamber has seven divisions, the committees for which develop programs and events to forward the goals outlined in its strategic plan. These divisions, education, governmental affairs, military affairs, small business, existing industry, membership, and leadership development, each represent an aspect of the community that is an integral part of making Sumter successful as a whole.

It requires a great effort from everyone involved to bring success and to maintain a balanced business environment. Working cohesively, the five-member Chamber staff manages operations, membership, finances, and communications that affect business and the community alike. The staff cannot manage all the work on their own, however, and they rely heavily on volunteers who serve on the Board of Directors, division committees, and Ambassadors Team to help ensure the Chamber's success. The time and expertise these community members and business leader bring to the table is invaluable.

The work of the Chamber spans a broad range of activities. One of those activities is supporting local government in the improvement of our community. The Chamber maintains involvement with the leadership of both City and County Government to address the ever-changing needs of our community. Current initiatives include expanding technical education and workforce development, protecting and supporting Shaw AFB, and backing elected officials in their pursuits for long term solutions to roads and infrastructure repairs around the community.

Another activity is involvement with the community. The Chamber engages the local community through numerous programs and events such as the Rub O' the Green Golf Tournament, Porches of Sumter, the Military Appreciation Picnic, the Chamber Retreat, and our newly revamped Annual Gala which serves as a celebration of the achievements of the past year. The Chamber added two new events in 2018: The Good Life senior living expo, which aims to bring information about health, wellness, and quality of life to one of the fastest growing segments of our local demographic, and the State of the Chamber address which is open to both members and the general public and is a presentation about the current work of the Chamber that includes a Q&A session and a reception following.

As always, the work of the Chamber is also to welcome businesses to the community and to provide value to its members. Ribbon-cutting ceremonies allow the Chamber to highlight new or relocated businesses, Membership 101 teaches members all about Chamber membership and how to maximize the return on their investment, and Business After Hours events bring Chamber members into other businesses allowing business owners to showcase their goods and services as well as bringing members together to make business connections that are beneficial personally and professionally.

HEALTHCARE

Prisma Health Tuomey Hospital: 100+ years of growth

Through 105 years of growth and evolution, one thing hasn't changed: Tuomey hospital's commitment to the Sumter community to provide safe, skilled, specialized care in our hometown.

Palmetto Health Tuomey, which became part of the Palmetto Health system of hospitals in January 2016, celebrated even greater growth in 2019: Palmetto Health and Greenville Health System united to form Prisma Health, the largest not-for-profit health organization in South Carolina, serving more than 1.2 million patients annually. The new company employs more than 30,000 team members. Its objective is to improve the health of all South Carolinians through improved clinical quality, access to care and patient experience, while also addressing the rising cost of health care.

Tuomey is now known as Prisma Health Tuomey Hospital. The name change represents our membership in this exciting organization while reflecting a century of continuous service to Sumter.

The local campus includes more than 1,700 team members and 228 practicing physicians representing 37 medical specialties. Our local facilities include a Level II Nursery; an Intensive Care Unit; an Acute Rehabilitation Unit; 10 operating suites; centers for Outpatient Surgery, Imaging and Cancer Treatment; an Infusion Center; an award-winning Wound Healing Center; as well as cardiac, speech, physical and occupational rehabilitative services. Our diagnostic capabilities feature comprehensive pathology services, interventional radiology and cardiac catheterization. Transitional care is provided through our Home Health Services program, as well as hospice, and palliative care. The ICU employs a team of intensivists to provide specialized critical care.

Tuomey is a Breast Center of Excellence, a certified Baby Friendly Hospital, and has been awarded Pathway to Excellence designation by the American Nursing Credentialing Center.

The formation of the Palmetto Health-USC

Medical Group brought more specialties to the Sumter campus. A pulmonary practice brought Sumterite Charlie White, M.D., back home, and an infectious disease practice with Bhatraphol Tingpej, M.D. was established. Montgomery Pate, M.D., opened a Medical Group practice in Bishopville. There are two general medicine practices on campus: Palmetto Family Practice and Carolina Family Medicine. Palmetto Heart-Sumter provides electrophysiology and medical and interventional cardiology with care provided by four cardiologists and several advanced providers, and most recently, Sumter Plastic Surgery welcomed Dr. Emily Grace Clark.

The PH-USC Medical Group has more than 100 locations throughout the Midlands.

TUOMEY CAMPUS OFFERINGS:

HealthWorks

If you're an employer or an employee, you know that occupational medicine is important to the Sumter workforce. Tuomey's HealthWorks program has been providing care to the workers in our community for nearly 20 years, offering a crucial line of support to the safety and wellness programs at local businesses and industries.

The Wound Healing Center

Chronic wound care impacts 6.5 million people a year nationwide, costing $20 billion. Prisma Health Tuomey's wound center specializes in the treatment of chronic wounds such as diabetic foot ulcers, pressure ulcers, venous stasis ulcers, and dehiscent surgical wounds. The center offers outpatient care and hyperbaric oxygen therapy as well as disease management and diabetes care, vascular studies, tissue culturing and pathology, biological skin substitute applications, and clinical or surgical debridement.

Cancer Treatment Center

Aggressive technology + clinical expertise + personalized care: The center ensures that local patients receive the best cancer care without having to travel to get it. For nearly 25 years, CTC has maintained cutting-edge technology and new services to fight cancer. It was one of the first facilities in the state to offer TrueBeam radiation treatment, using state-of-the-art linear accelerators, paired with CT-based treatment planning, which allows radiation oncologists to offer intensity-modulated radiotherapy. The center utilizes Stereotactic Body Radiation Therapy for early stage lung cancer to allow highly precise delivery of high doses of radiation to a small target.

The Women's Center | Birthplace

The 18,000-square-foot Women and Children's Pavilion is a dedicated unit designed to meet the unique needs of our gynecological and obstetric patients as well as medical care for children. The facility features 24 modern inpatient rooms, designed to create the optimum conditions for in-room treatment and examinations, while accommodating supportive family and friends comfortably. For postpartum patients, the center provides a worthy extension of our labor and delivery rooms. The Level II Nursery allows the hospital to treat high-risk newborns. The center also features breastfeeding rooms, a lactation consultant and education nurse, antepartum rooms and a bereavement room. The Family Place offers an environment well suited to the families of young children.

The Infusion Center

Efficient, convenient and patient-friendly: Having an infusion center on site means that patients are able to get home from the hospital more quickly and perhaps even avoid being admitted. We provide treatment for Crohn's Disease and rheumatoid arthritis, as well as infusions of medications such as antibiotics, antivirals and iron drugs in an outpatient setting. Infusion therapy is also utilized for hydration.

Telemedicine

Telemedicine eliminates distance barriers and offers patients access to great care and quick intervention. Prisma Health Tuomey uses telemedicine technology to provide clinical care in the areas of mental health, advanced intensive care and stroke. If a patient presents with stroke-like symptoms, time is of the essence; neurologists from MUSC can guide intervention and save lives. We use credentialed psychiatrists and intensivists as well to improve medical access to services not consistently available.

Acute Rehabilitative Unit:

This unit is dedicated to helping those who've suffered a serious illness or injury maximize their functionality, mobility and independence and return to a fulfilling quality of life. A team of providers seeks to ease the anxiety about the loss of independence by providing medical and rehabilitative care, as well as emotional and social support. When someone's ability to do activities of daily life is impaired, there's not only a physical loss but the loss of your sense of well-being and self-sufficiency. Rehabilitation helps patients regain their physical abilities as well as their confidence, which is a critical part of successful recovery.

Community Wellness

Prisma Health wants a healthy workforce and a healthy community, so they provide services to help people get and stay well. Corporate wellness initiatives, cholesterol and diabetes screenings and drug testing options are available. Some employers partner with Palmetto Health to bring nurses into their facilities, to provide on-site first aid, check blood pressures, work on health and safety initiatives and evaluate jobs for ergonomic issues.

Wesmark Boulevard Campus

Our satellite campus at Alice Drive and Wesmark offers outpatient imaging, programs in physical therapy, speech and occupational therapy, cardiac rehab, audiology and one of the most comprehensive sports medicine/orthopedics programs in the region. We provide pre-season screenings for athletes, injury clinics to assess injuries post-game and onsite sporting coverage. The Imaging Center provides noninvasive testing procedures such as MRI and CT scans, ultrasound, bone density studies and X-ray, as well as 4D ultrasounds for pregnant women.

AREAS OF EXPERTISE OFFERED BY OTHER HOSPITALS IN THE PRISMA HEALTH SYSTEM:

Prisma Health Heart Hospital

The Heart Hospital is South Carolina's only freestanding hospital dedicated solely to the prevention, diagnosis and treatment of hearts. Our continuum of care begins with disease prevention and management, and extends to emergency services and procedures, diagnosis and surgery and rehabilitation. Services include Cardiac catheterization and diagnostics, cardiovascular surgery, pulmonary rehabilitation, a Chest Pain ER and a mobile Coronary Care Unit.

Prisma Health Children's Hospital

The state's first children's hospital treats more than 80,000 children each year. It has a Children's Emergency Center and offers more than 30 subspecialties to meet the unique health care needs of children. Supportive, family-centered care includes centers for Sleep, Cancer and Blood Disorders and Cystic Fibrosis, as well as a Critical Care Transport Team, physical and specialty therapy, Pediatric Intensive Care and Palliative Care and the Tom Bates Day Hospital.

Neonatal Intensive Care Unit

The NICU at Prisma Health Children's Hospital is an extraordinary place for healing and growth for some of the tiniest and sickest babies in our region, and we are committed to it remaining that way. As only one of five Level III NICUs in South Carolina and the designated Regional Perinatal Center, the NICU provides expert care for the smallest and sickest babies in a 16-county region, which encompasses Sumter, Lee and Clarendon counties.

Prisma Health Richland Trauma Center

It's the only Level I Trauma Center in the Midlands, caring for an average of 2,400 serious injuries each year. The interdisciplinary team is composed of trauma and specialty surgeons, emergency medicine and other specialty physicians, nurses, therapists, social workers and other health care professionals to provide total care for every aspect of injury, from prevention through rehabilitation.

Stroke Center

The only Joint Commission-designated Primary Stroke Center in the Midlands is led by an internationally recognized stroke neurologist and chair of the Department of Neurology at the University of South Carolina School of Medicine. The stroke team is often referred to as the "Brain Attack Team." We are ready to treat victims of stroke, brain aneurysms and other abnormal vascularities of the brain 24/7 as well as provide interventional treatment to retrieve clots causing a blockage of blood supply to brain tissue.

SHAW AFB

Established in 1941, Shaw Air Force Base is a longtime friend and protector of Sumter. Named after Lt. Ervin D. Shaw, a Sumter native killed during World War I, many residents still refer to Shaw AFB as "Shaw Field." It is a 3,500-acre installation that also has a 12,400 acre bombing range at Poinsett Range located 11 miles away.

Should our freedoms be threatened, the brave men and women of Shaw AFB are among the first to answer the call of duty. They were among the many service people who rose to the President's call following the tragedy of Sept. 11, 2001, and again for the fight against Saddam Hussein's regime in Operation Iraqi Freedom. The veracity of Shaw's aircraft and personnel have instilled admiration for American valor in the hearts of many around the world. Aside from their combat deployments, Shaw also provides support services to troops all over the world including the production of weather reports for those stationed in the Middle East. Now, more than ever, their efforts are appreciated. In terms of Sumter's population, Shaw AFB has had an incredible influence. Many military members opt to stay in the Gamecock City and many others return after retirement. There are as many as 18,000 military veterans living in the area, and many of them simple residency by taking active roles within the community doing service projects and volunteering.

Shaw also plays a vital role in the local economy, directly and indirectly accounting for nearly $1 billion of the money circulated around Sumter. That's nearly 33 percent of the area's total economy. About 9,000 of the personnel at the base are active-duty roles, while an additional 1,500 civilians also report to Shaw for work in various capacities. The collective effort of these workers keeps the gears turning, the wheels rolling, and the F-16s flying.

Shaw Air Force Base is the home of the 20th Fighter Wing, the Air Force's largest combat F-16 wing. Their mission is to provide, project, and sustain combat-ready air forces. Shaw also serves as home for the 9th Air Force and U.S. Air Force Central, whose primary mission is to project decisive air and space power for U.S. Central Command and America. Most recently, it was announced that the MQ-9 Reaper Wing would also call Shaw "home." While a few personnel are already onsite, a few hundred more are expected over the next year.

In 2011, Sumter welcomed yet another division of the armed forces: Third Army/U.S. Army Central. Now referred to by the name USARCENT, these soldiers are land force professionals specializing in the Middle East and Central Asia. Their headquarters, Patton Hall, located within Shaw Air Force Base, is a modern, energy-efficient 320,000-square-foot facility with space for 1,400 soldiers, Department of the Army Civilians, and contractors. USARCENT maintains mission command of U.S. Army forces in the Middle East and Central Asia through the use of cutting-edge technology, numerous teleconference rooms, and daily updates via their high-tech, 90-seat Combined Operations and Intelligence Center.

The heroic and dedicated men and women of Shaw provide an invaluable service to our great nation, and Sumter takes pride in having the privilege of them calling our town home. Whether they're here for a short while, or they choose to retire here, Sumter takes pride in welcoming these folks and boasts that pride in the city motto, Uncommon Patriotism.

INDUSTRY

Though its roots are in agriculture, Sumter has become a pivotal industrial hub in the Midlands.

The area boasts five industrial centers that house more than 65 manufacturing facilities responsible for the employment of about 8,500 people. Sumter can accommodate any and all who wish to expand their operations. Current manufacturers include Continental Tire, Kaydon, Eaton, BD Diagnostics, International Paper, Mount Franklin Foods, and not one, but two Caterpillar facilities.

Sumter is just as welcoming to smaller industries. Some of these smaller manufacturers have received international recognition such as Gamay Industries, located in Dalzell, which is the world's largest ginkgo farm, and Palmetto Pigeon Plant, which raises squab served at revered locations such as Buckingham Palace.

The Sumter Economic Development Board has committed its efforts to increasing the industrial base of Sumter County and has partnered with the private sector to accomplish this goal. The Sumter Smarter Growth Initiative was instituted to assist with recruiting new industries, encouraging expansions in the area, and supporting community projects that aim to improve job availability and build wealth in the community.

Preparation is absolutely vital to the survival of industry. Workforce readiness and education are the key. In October 2015, Central Carolina Technical College opened the Advanced Manufacturing Training Center. The new facility has more than 100,000 square feet for industrial training programs and houses a mechatronic and robotics lab, computer science programs, a library, and a suite for training employees that can be configured to mimic a number of manufacturing environments. This facility has much to offer the residents of Sumter County to meet the ever changing needs of modern manufacturing.

Sumter Career and Technology Center offers classes to high school students in several fields such as machine tool technology, welding, and automotive technology. The facility does an excellent job of preparing young adults for the work place and is well supported by local industry. After completing their curriculum at the center students can enter the workforce, or continue in their field of study at Central Carolina Technical College. In the early stages of planning, the Sumter School District is working with Central Carolina Technical College to build a technical high school that will also offer programs that will train students for careers in local industry.

To facilitate the arrival of new industries, Sumter's five industrial parks have green field sites perfect for developing new operations. These ready-to-build-on properties already have gas lines installed, and two of the parks have on-site access to railways. Local utility companies strive to ensure that water and sewer systems are readily available wherever they are needed, and constant maintenance helps safeguard the integrity of such necessities. Each of the parks also has a Class 2 fire rating that keeps insurance rates low.

EDUCATION

As society developed over the course of time, the greatest philosophical, theological and scientific minds of history have emphasized the power of a sound education. Sumter offers a variety of avenues for the exploratory mind to travel and expand, hosting a vast public education system, numerous private schools and several colleges. If education is of any concern to incoming residents, they can rest easy knowing Sumter has something for them.

Sumter's public education system

Consolidated into the singular Sumter School District in 2011, the public schools of Sumter County continue to raise the bar on education and provide a positive, enlightening atmosphere for the area's children.

Along with the core elements of education – reading, writing, and arithmetic – public schools also encourage social skills, such as embracing diversity, and soft skills, such as appropriate attire, so that they are better prepared for success in whatever path they choose. Students have the opportunity to participate in numerous extracurricular activities that enrich their lives including athletics, arts, and service clubs that allow them to interact with their peers and positive role models outside the classroom. In turn, those students provide valuable services and knowledge to the community, helping them learn teamwork, creativity, and the importance of embracing a civic mindset as they become more involved with the world around them.

Sumter School District employs an open enrollment program that offers school choice options to families within the school district. Simply apply to the school of your choice during the open enrollment application period and follow through as the process continues.

Of the three area high schools, Sumter High is the largest and serves the majority of city residents, while Lakewood and Crestwood high schools cater to students outside the city limits. A great asset to the community, the Sumter County Career and Technology Center, located next to Sumter High School's campus, serves students from all three area high schools as a means to prepare students for a variety of career fields such as mechatronics, welding, diesel and automotive technology, health sciences, early childhood education, culinary arts, and cosmetology. Many of the area's industrial workers began their training at the center, creating an

GROWTH AND DEVELOPMENT

Infrastructure and improvements to quality of life top the list of concerns for city officials as they strive to ensure the Sumter of old intertwines with the needs of a growing community.

Renovating the downtown area was a main concern of the Downtown Development group, who was charged with reviving Downtown Sumter and making it a thriving and beautiful area of the city. Numerous projects such as new brick sidewalks and the replacement of several building facades have greatly improved the aesthetic appeal of the downtown area. These extensive efforts have revitalized the private sector in Sumter and created a pleasant atmosphere in an otherwise busy area.

Downtown Sumter's centerpiece, the Rotary Centennial Plaza, is one of the many improvements that has added to the ambience of the district. The plaza features a fountain, benches, and colorful murals.

Three local Rotary Clubs collaborated to raise more than $100,000 to build the project that now hosts numerous outdoor events. Beau Graham Square is just across the street from Centennial Plaza. Named after a former mayor of Sumter, it features a scenic water wall and lifelike swan sculpture rendered by renowned artist Scott Schaffer. Both projects make ample resting points for shoppers and visitors alike to stop and enjoy the character of Downtown Sumter.

Award winning restaurants such as Hamptons and Sidebar have opened in the downtown area bringing both locals and visitors downtown for lunch, dinner, and a variety of hosted events. La Piazza, an outdoor food and music venue, opened in 2017 and serves as a wonderful venue for private events such as weddings and corporate functions, as well as concerts and downtown festivals. Rafters, located above the recently relocated Hamptons, boasts Sumter's first rooftop bar that overlooks the stage at La Piazza. A little farther down Main, The Sidewalk Café offers healthy cuisine with a southern flair for breakfast, lunch, and dinner.

Just across from the Sidewalk Café, Central Carolina Technical College's Health Science Center brings more than 1,000 students to the downtown area each day. The students bring a fresh, youthful look and feel to the area while downtown provides easier access to Palmetto Health Tuomey where many of the students work and study.

This spring, the Hyatt Place Hotel opened, bringing a beautiful, modern hotel to the heart of Main Street. This hotel will serve business travelers, sports tourists, and visitors of all types looking for a high end hotel experience in Sumter.

The Sumter Library, a 45,000 square foot facility is a long-time staple in Sumter's downtown. Renovations to the facility a few years ago included the addition of a Children's Library and several classrooms. Visitors can enjoy the view around them as they relax and enjoy the many services the library has to offer.

Patriot Hall has undergone an extensive list of renovations over the years that have rendered an elegant venue for the 1,000+ patrons who attend each of its productions. The facelift combines a nostalgic appearance with state-of-the-art sound technology that attracts performers of many genres. The complex also hosts the Sumter County Gallery of Art and the Sumter Little Theatre, both of which have exhibits and shows that attract locals and visitors alike. Located on the same property, the Sumter County Parks and Recreation building is currently undergoing renovations to improve its form and function.

Development in Sumter is the result of both public and private investments, as well as the cooperation amongst its residents, businesses, and elected officials for which Sumter is known.

FESTIVALS AND THE ARTS

There are a variety of “can’t miss” activities and events hosted each year in Sumter by the Chamber, the City, the County, and various Civic groups and Non-Profit organizations.

An annual favorite, and one of the most well-known events is the Iris Festival. Southern Living Magazine hailed Swan Lake Iris Gardens as “the accidental garden,” and the Iris Festival held here since 1940 is one of the largest Southern Festivals in the United States. The three-day event, opening with the Taste of the Gardens, kicks off Memorial Day Weekend. You will see fabulous displays of Japanese Irises in bloom as well as all eight species of swans while visiting the festival. A variety of food, music, arts and crafts, and a children’s play area are just a small sampling of what the festival has to offer.

Swan Lake Iris Gardens are also the backdrop for many local events and festivals such as the Fantasy of Lights which features thousands of twinkling light displays that amaze children and adults alike all during the month of December. Speaking of December, there is no shortage of holiday activities in Sumter to keep your schedule full. The Nutcracker Ballet, the Christmas Parade, the Holiday House Tea/

Tour, the Living Nativity, the Singing Christmas Tree, and Carolina Back Country Christmas at the Museum are all must-see events.

Sumter County is rich in African-American heritage, and locals celebrate that history. The Festival on the Avenue and the Annual Cultural Festival – both held in April – bring elements of African-American art and culture to attendees. Just down the road from Mayesville hosts its own special celebration with the Mary McLeod Bethune Birthday Celebration. Aside from the numerous festivals, the Sumter County African-American Cultural Center perpetually hosts music, art, and cultural performances and exhibits.

Despite its humble size, Downtown Sumter offers plenty to enjoy. A summer concert series is held on the fourth Friday of every month from May to September. On Saturday mornings, make your way to the Downtown Market where local vendors offer anything from fresh vegetables to arts and crafts. In addition to its monthly programs, the historic Sumter Opera House hosts performances and presentations throughout the year spanning the genres of film, music, dance, comedy, and theater. A number of special events are held downtown as well. Oktoberfest, in September, and Derby Day, in May, both bring a full block party to Main Street.

Fall in Sumter just wouldn't be the same without the savory smells of funnel cake, cotton candy, and corndogs in the air. Follow your nose and you'll find yourself at the Sumter County Fair. Visitors experience rides, games, shows, and food while many also show off their handiwork in a variety of competitions such as quilting, artwork, and canning.

For food lovers, Porches of Sumter, the Fall

Feast, and the Chili Cook-off & Beer Tasting are annual events not to miss. Recently, the addition of Untapped: A Food Truck and craft beer event bring even more culinary delights a few times a year. Each of these events features local cooks, restaurants, and businesses presenting their best recipes for you to enjoy.

Patriot Hall hosts countless internationally renowned performances in its 1,017-seat auditorium. You can see music, dance, and theatrical presentations as well a Comic Art Symposium. The Sumter Gallery of Art features revolving exhibits from traditional to contemporary and includes art by local, regional, and nationally recognized artists. Sumter Little Theatre puts on several productions during each season, bringing critically acclaimed scripts to life. SLT also offers youth acting classes for growing young thespians.

The Sumter County Museum's mission is to promote the history of Sumter through the preservation and exhibition of objects, manuscripts, and documents which relate the story of Sumter. The museum includes the Williams Brice House, the Heritage Education Center, and the Carolina Backcountry Homestead.

HISTORY

Sumter County is as rich in history as it is in tradition and character, the latter of which is rooted in its very name. General Thomas Sumter, one of the legendary patriarchs of the Revolutionary War, was known for his ferocity and ingenuity while leading his campaigns, garnering the nickname "The Fighting Gamecock." This city carries his name with pride, both in his character and accomplishment.

Prior to the American Revolution, the English settled the Sumter area during the 1740s along the Wateree River. Two local churches, High Hills Baptist Church and Church of the Holy Cross, were established in the 1770s and remain landmarks to this day. Famous botanist Joel Roberts Poinsett, for which the poinsettia plant is named, was buried at Church of the Holy Cross.

Gen. Sumter led numerous companies on successful campaigns in the Carolinas, fighting many battles crucial to the American cause. He even defeated the greatly feared and despised Lt. Col. Banastre Tarleton, a fierce leader of the British dragoons, at Blackstock's Ford in 1780. Sumter was wounded in several places during that battle and retired to Stateburg, an area now located in the U.S. 378 and S.C. 261 corridors of Sumter County.

Sumter continued to serve the young nation in a political facet after the war. He was elected to the General Assembly and later to the state Senate. Sumter eventually found himself serving the state of South Carolina in U.S. Congress and was crucial in the development of the state and nation. At 98 years old, Thomas Sumter was the last general of the American Revolution to pass away in 1832. He ardently fought for his state's rights at a crucial time in U.S. history, an effort for which he is still cherished. Sumter's tomb, located at Sumter Memorial Park near his home in Stateburg, is now a national landmark.

In 1845, the town of Sumterville was established as a plantation settlement just to the east of Stateburg. Ten years later, the name was shortened to Sumter.

During the Civil War, the region once again gained several claims to fame. Citadel Cadet George Edward

"Tuck" Haynsworth, a born and buried Sumter native, was arguably the man who fired the first shot of the war at Fort Sumter in Charleston. Historical landmarks stand throughout Sumter and Sumter County, and a reenactment of Potter's Raid, one of the final engagements of the Civil War, takes place every year in the outer areas of the county.

In the interest of preserving and remembering our history, Sumter has a several museums. The Sumter County Museum features several displays of artifacts, artwork and a historically accurate replica of a typical homestead, staffed by docents in period dress performing the daily duties with which the early settlers of South Carolina were tasked. The museum grounds also feature the Williams-Brice House and Gardens and the Heritage Research Center, where residents can delve into their ancestry and family lineage through public records and other documents.

Located downtown is the Military Museum. This museum has over 4000 individual photos on display as well as uniforms, medals, and other articles. Local historian, Sammy Way, manages the museum and gives guided tours to visitors. Also downtown is the Temple Sinai Jewish History Center, which just opened in spring 2018. The Center features a brief introduction to Judaism, Jewish settlement in South Carolina, Jewish life in Sumter, the Holocaust, and Sumter's ties to the Holocaust, containing a special section devoted to local Holocaust survivor Abe Stern. The stories are told through photographs, documents, audio excerpts, and objects including a dagger that Stern removed from a deceased German soldier.

RECREATION

When it comes to maintaining an active lifestyle, Sumter is about as good as it gets. The city and county have provided numerous facilities for residents to enjoy their favorite activities. With 31 public parks, tennis courts, and a public pool at their disposal, Sumter residents always have something to do or somewhere to go.

Dillon Park, is a family and Fido friendly park with baseball, soccer, and football fields, a paved walking trail, a disc golf course, and, most recently, a new dog park. Sumter's beautiful Patriot Park Sportsplex, is built for tournament play with five baseball/softball fields and six soccer fields.

If you like baseball, Bobby Richardson Complex, named for Major League Baseball Player and Sumter native, Bobby Richardson, is another great place to go. It features an observation tower and fan-friendly covered spectator area. Sumter has hosted the USSSA, ISA, WFC and Dixie Youth tournaments.

We also have Riley Park, home of the champion American Legion P-15's, a 2,000-seat professional-quality stadium. In addition to the P-15's it also hosts the USC Sumter Fire Ants and the Morris College Hornets.

The City of Sumter Aquatics Center is not only fun for kids of all ages with the open tube slide, wade pool, beach entrance, and fountain; it also meets requirements for competition swim meets with six swim lanes, an electronic timer & touch pads, and diving blocks. Lifeguards and Water Safety Instructors are on-site during the season.

The Palmetto Tennis Center is located inside Palmetto Park and boasts 24 state of the art tennis courts that are also lit for night play. Three on-site tennis pros offer private lessons and group clinics for beginner to advanced players ages three and up. The center hosts several professional and amateur events such as the Palmetto Pro Open and the UTA ITA Southeast Regional.

The Sumter Series is a series of eight 5/10 K races held as fund raisers for local non-profit organizations. The Oktoberfest Metric Century Ride is a scenic ride through the rolling countryside of Sumter County. Ride options include a 20.7 mile as well as a Metric Century. And for the multi-sport athlete, there is the TriSumter Triathlon. This is a USAT sanctioned race with a 300-yard pool swim, a 16-mile bike course and a 5k running course.

Serving as a local Mecca for those who enjoy the great outdoors, Poinsett State Park encompasses more than 1,000 acres, offering separate trails for hiking, biking, and riding. Located within Manchester State Forest, the park has a wildlife center that is the perfect place to become acquainted with local species indigenous to South Carolina. While a hike through one of the many trails offers an ideal light recreation experience, many opt for Sumter's 14-mile portion of the Palmetto Trail, a 425-mile long trail that runs from the mountains to the sea. It's the perfect combination of relaxation and exercise that offers an exceptional view of the wildlife and natural beauty of Sumter County.

A real estate company is like a home.
