ASHLEY HART OSBORNE, KELLER WILLIAMS REALTY

Wondering if now is a good time to buy a home or sell your home? Read these tips from Ashley Hart Osborne with Keller Williams Realty.

10 REASONS TO LIST THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

1. There are motivated buyers in the market that must buy for tax reasons.

2. During the holidays season there are typically less homes on the market. Less supply means less competition. Less competition means more money in your pocket.

3. Many people have time off during the holidays, increasing their availability to see homes. Buyers that buy during the holiday season tend to be serious buyers.

4. Buying is an emotional purchase and emotions tend to run high during the holiday season. Strategically, having the opportunity to work off of a buyer's emotions is in your favor... they tend to offer a higher price when emotions are involved.

5. The holiday season reminds people of family. The home is the foundation of the family unit. More buyers become motivated to buy during the holidays than any other time of the year.

6. The interest rates are incredibly low which allow buyers to afford more in the market. When rates are low, buyers tend to present higher purchase offers.

7. Many sellers want to wait to list until after the new year which causes a lot of new inventory in January. The longer you wait, the more competition you create for yourself. You can expect a flood of new inventory in 1st quarter of 2022.

8. Since most people do not want to move during the holidays, you can secure a contract now while your selling opportunity is high and arrange for a delayed closing or a rent back with the buyer.

9. Companies typically bring a new talent in starting at the beginning of the year. These new hires are looking at property now. You must be in the market to take advantage of these buyers.

10. Selling now can give you more buying power later. By selling your home now, you can buy after January when the market becomes saturated

5 REASONS TO BUY THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

-You could get a better deal!! Since the holidays are not prime time for sellers, you'll likely find that the homes on the market need to sell. Even in this crazy market, this puts you in a good position to negotiate a lower price, or to get certain repairs or upgrades included in your buying cost.

-You'll have less competition from other buyers: The holidays aren't generally the time of year when most people get excited to buy a house, so you'll probably be able to house shop with very few competitors.

-Tax Break: If you can close on a new home before the end of the year, you may be able to itemize some of the costs associated with moving. Check with your tax advisor for tips!

-You might get a lower interest rate: Interest rates on mortgages and loans go through swing cycles, and typically around the holidays, they hit a lower point because fewer people are looking to borrow. Get in touch with your lender early to ask about rates.

-Sellers will want to close quickly: Everyone just wants to wrap things up before the holidays — sellers, agents, banks — so you are likely to find that people are willing to work with you to get things moving along.

Happiest of holidays to you and your family!! If there is anything I can do to assist you or any questions I can answer, please don't hesitate to shoot me a text! I am always here for you and happy to help!!
Wishing you a joyful holiday season and a very happy 2022!

Thank you for your business!
