

REFLECT RESET RECONNECT

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 4TH

10 AM - 11:30 AM

Being "Comfortably Uncomfortable"

Talking About Race and Other Differences In the Workplace

Social justice and racial inequality are more than just hot topics on social media and the news. Talking about race and identity is also a necessary part of fostering inclusion in the workplace, and being able to consistently and effectively communicate is the first step to creating a healthier, more inclusive professional environment.

Join us to learn about ways to talk about and better embrace race, gender, and other differences in the workplace to enhance inclusivity. We want to provide a safe and healthy space where participants can learn from our insightful panelists as well as from each other about this critical topic.

OUR PANELISTS

Lisa Meredith, *Regional Director, ProVisors

Lisa Meredith is a 30+ year professional with record success in sales management and marketing at local and regional levels. She is a creative problem solver with the ability to drive revenue growth, consult on conflict resolution, improve organizational morale, as well as provide hands-on training in the areas of developing negotiation skills and cultivating strategic business partnerships. As Regional Director at ProVisors, Lisa's primary roles are to manage the recruitment efforts by onboarding and candidate process, in addition to training and providing essential business development tools that create consistent flow of business commerce for senior level trusted advisors in various professional services specialties. Lisa also sits on the Board of Directors for SBAC Empower, SBAC's nonprofit organization established to encourage small business ownership through education and support.

Stacy White, *Director of Talent Acquisition, Northwestern Mutual

Stacy White was named the Director, Talent Acquisition at Northwestern Mutual - Chicago in 2017. As the Director, Talent Acquisition, she is responsible for being the "Brand Ambassador," responsible for all growth and diverse recruitment strategies of Northwestern Mutual's Deerfield firm. Stacy works in a leadership capacity to build quality relationships both externally, in the community, and internally, among office personnel. Stacy's primary emphasis is to lead and develop Northwestern Mutual's recruitment staff, promote the company's career opportunities, partner with strategic alliances & community leaders and develop Centers of Influence. Stacy also sits on the Board of Directors for the SBAC.

Join the SBAC Women In Business to Reflect. Reset. Reconnect 2021

REGISTER TODAY!