

Small Business Advocacy Council

ELLIOT RICHARDSON

Co-Founder/President

About Elliot

Elliot is the Co-Founder and President of the Small Business Advocacy Council, an organization laser-focused on advocating for the small business community. The SBAC is dedicated to passing legislation and moving policy initiatives that will help small and local businesses thrive. The SBAC works with numerous partners to provide the small business community a unified and strong voice to advocate on policies that impact the economy.

Elliot is a partner at the law firm Korey Richardson, LLP. Elliot has also served as the Board Chair for Kids Above All, an organization focused on protecting, healing and educating children and families so they can build better lives. Elliot remains on the Board of Directors. Elliot also formally served on the board of Youth Conservation Corp., Youth Communications and the YMCA Alliance Board. Additionally, Elliot formerly served on the Editorial Board of the Chicago Bar Association and on the Executive Committee of the Young Lawyers Section of the CBA.

Elliot received his law degree from the University of Dayton and received the University of Dayton School of Law Pro Bono Publico Service Award. Elliot graduated from Bradley University with a degree in sociology and criminal justice, with a minor in history.

Media Appearances

Elliot has participated in stories or interviews for Bloomberg, Crain's Chicago, WBEZ, Fox Chicago, ABC7, Block Club Chicago, WTTW, the Chicago Tribune, FOX Business, WGN radio, WVON, WLS, WCPT and much more. Elliot writes a monthly column for the Daily Herald.

Contact

- • 20 N Clark Street, Suite 3300
- • Chicago, IL 60602
- • 312.548.8608
- • elliott@sbacil.org
- • www.sbacil.org