

Thomas H. Lee, MSc, MD

Dr. Lee is the Chief Medical Officer for Press Ganey, where he is responsible for developing clinical and operational strategies to help providers measure and improve the patient experience, with the overarching goals of reducing patient suffering and improving the value of care. Prior to joining Press Ganey in 2013, he was the Network President for Partners Healthcare System in Boston, Massachusetts. A practicing internist/cardiologist at Boston's Brigham and Women's Hospital, Dr. Lee is on the faculty at Harvard Medical School and Harvard School of Public Health. He is Editor-in-Chief of NEJM Catalyst and on the Editorial Board of The New England Journal of Medicine. A member of the Board of Directors of Geisinger Health System and chair of the Board of Geisinger Health Plan, he is also a member of the Panel of Health Advisors of the Congressional Budget Office and the Board of Directors of Health Leads. Dr. Lee has authored more than 300 peer-reviewed journal articles and three books. A graduate of Harvard College and Cornell University Medical College. Dr. Lee trained in internal medicine and cardiology at Brigham and Women's Hospital and received a MSc in Epidemiology from Harvard School of Public Health.