FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Community invited to vote for South County ‘Business of the Year,’ to recognize a noteworthy, local business for 2020

SOUTH COUNTY — South County Chambers of Commerce is inviting feedback from the South County community to help them select a local business or nonprofit as “Business of the Year” for South San Luis Obispo County. The businesses eligible to receive the award are those selected as Business of the Month for 2020. The businesses of the month are nominated by the community and selected by the South County Chambers of Commerce Marketing Committee.

The nine businesses who could win the Business of the Year award for 2020 include San Luis Obispo County Farmers’ Market Association, San Luis Obispo County YMCA, Nan’s Pre-Owned Books, Rutiz Farms, Old Juan’s Cantina, Café Andreini, Smith’s Alarms and Electronics, JB Dewar, and Quintessa Coffee Roasters.

The Business of the Year Award recognizes one business for all of South San Luis Obispo County who has contributed significantly to strengthening the South County economy, community, and workforce. This prestigious award acknowledges their contribution in 2020 and recognizes them as a community leader.

To vote for Business of the Year, please visit southcountychambers.com/vote-2020-business-of-the-year. There is a short video interview with each business representative on the South County Chambers website page that voters can watch to learn more about each business before selecting their choice. The deadline to vote is January 31, 2021. The winner will be announced and celebrated at the Chamber’s Annual Dinner & Recognition Awards on September 22, 2021 at Villa Lorian.

For more information, please call (805) 489-1488, or e-mail info@southcountychambers.com.
