

The Association of VA Hematology/Oncology (AVAHO), Plexus Communications, and Rush University are pleased to announce a joint collaboration that focuses on implementing a series of non-promotional, current/clinically relevant accredited educational activities presented by nationally recognized faculty and developed for the specific educational needs of healthcare providers who care for active and non-active military personnel.

How Does It Work

A nationally recognized expert clinical faculty member will deliver a one-hour accredited presentation to your staff. Importantly, you will have the flexibility to schedule a live meeting format that best suits your medical staff's needs*. Most activities take place onsite at the host's facility and are typically conducted during regularly scheduled meetings (tumor board meetings, journal club meetings, departmental rounds, etc). You simply choose the time, place, and speaker (from a list of participating presenters) and we will do the rest!

FAQs

- Flexible meeting formats that can be held at a VA/DoD/MHS Center
 - * Due to the COVID-19 crisis, all programs are currently being held as live virtual webinars
- No fee to schedule or attend an activity
- All activities will be accredited by Rush University CME Dpt. for physicians, nurses, pharmacists (other accreditations are available)

If you would like additional information about these activities or to request an accredited activity at your Center, please contact John Eller at john.eller@plexuscomm.com or 856-313-4262.

CURRENTLY AVAILABLE CME/CE PROGRAMS

- Integrating New Treatment Options for B-Cell Non-Hodgkin Lymphomas into Practice
- Evolving Standards of Care in Advanced Prostate Cancer: Incorporating the Latest Therapeutic Strategies
- Clinical Strategies to Optimize Outcomes Across the Disease Spectrum in Multiple Myeloma
- Precision Medicine to Improve Lung Cancer Outcomes: Recent Therapeutic Advances and Emerging Agents"