Employing Refugees

How Employers Can Tap into WNY’s Growing Talent Pool
Buffalo, NY- The City of Good Neighbors

The 2020 census indicates that the Erie County population has grown for the first time in 70 years- in part due to the influx of refugees & immigrants. 10.4% of the city is foreign born.
The US refugee program has been in existence since 1980 regardless of administration (Refugee Act of 1980).

There are 9 Voluntary agencies that contract with the US government to provide resettlement services. (Office of Refugee Resettlement under the ACF)

Those 9 agencies have over 350 local affiliates throughout the US.

Each agency is paid to provide “core services” (approximately 15) during a 90 day time frame under the “cooperative Agreement”.

Each October the President and congress decide how many refugees will be admitted and from what regions:

- 1985: 70,000
- 1993: 132,000
- 2002: 70,000
- 2008: 80,000
- 2007: 110,000
- 2020: 18,000
- 2022: 125,000

Employing Refugees

How Employers Can Tap into WNY’s Growing Talent Pool
Why is employment important?

- Employment is essential for refugees and immigrants to reach self-sufficiency in the US
- All refugees and immigrants aged 18-65 are expected to work, unless medically unable
- Refugees need to pay back a travel loan to the US government
- Many clients send money back home
- Need to save for adjustment of status
- Employment services provided to refugees and immigrants of all different backgrounds
  - Common current languages: Burmese, Swahili, Arabic, Pashto, Dari, many others
  - Current client base has military experience, manufacturing experience, restaurant experience, professional backgrounds
  - Some pro bono services for clients who are immigrants and who have been here a while but not employed
Employment Programs offered

What makes employers a good fit?

- Awareness of potential issues, during the hiring process or once the client is working, and ability to plan for solutions
  - Employment history, limited English proficiency, transportation barrier, different communication styles

- Is everyone on the same page and prepared to work with the foreign born?
  - Executives might be committed but line level and supervisory staff working with the clients must be too
  - Not every refugee has a great work ethic (not every new hire will work out)

- Logistics
  - Working in supports for the above-mentioned potential issues
  - Overtime or bonuses for those training the new clients
  - Interpreting budget to ensure understanding after initial onboarding process
  - Holding clients accountable to the same standards as other workers

- Understanding what agencies can do and our limitations
