

CCIA Committees

California Cannabis Industry Association committees are an integral part of state policy reform. Members of our committees are revered as industry experts and voices of authority on industry specific challenges and best practices. CCIA's Board of Directors look to committee members for essential insight and feedback that plays a critical role in educating decision makers and consumers. Joining a CCIA committee is an extraordinary way to partner with experts in your field to influence the rules and regulations that govern the fast growing cannabis industry.

Eligibility Requirements

CCIA committees are open to all Associate+, Business, and Executive level members.

All members are eligible to participate in the Diversity, Inclusion, and Social Equity Committee.

Legislative

Co-Chairs: TBD for 2022

Our Legislative Committee is one of our most active and vibrant committees. We review all current legislation and regulations, and advocate on behalf of our members. This group functions as a legislative information hub that allows for inclusive, productive discussions and provides insight from our legislative team.

Quality Control

Chair: Josh Wurzer: TBD for 2022

The QC Committee is focused on the practical application of the rules and regulations as they pertain to testing labs and the cannabis industry. This committee offers insight into best practices for testing labs and quality control issues, it also functions as an educational arm of the association. The committee is primarily attended by testing labs, scientists, and manufacturers.

Agriculture & Manufacturing

Co-Chairs: TBD for 2022

CCIA's re-vamped Agricultural & Manufacturing Committee provides input and information on the complex regulations that pertain to cultivation, manufacturing, processing, and packaging. This committee analyzes the complicated relationship between the varied forms of cannabis cultivation and manufacturing, and promotes policies that streamline business operations while prioritizing consumer safety.

Retail, Delivery & Distribution

Co-Chairs: TBD for 2022

As the most consumer facing sect of the industry, the Retail, Delivery & Distribution Committee addresses all issues related to streamlining business practices while prioritizing consumer safety. This committee has been directly involved with educating the industry on the evolution of regulations and policies related to packaging and labeling, tax reform, access and affordability, and will continue to provide a voice of reason and responsibility.

Risk Management

Co-Chairs: TBD for 2022

A new addition in 2020, CCIA's Risk Management committee is comprised of the former Insurance, Human Resources, and IP Committees. Risk Management develops educational materials, webinars, and seminars for both policy providers and industry operators. The committee is also focused on developing standardized benefits, workforce planning compliance and best employment practices for the industry. Finally, Risk Management provides a forum for discussion relating to patent, trademark, copyright and trade secret issues specific to the cannabis space.

The goal of the committee includes educating members and providing resources relating to growing and protecting intellectual property assets, drafting licensing agreements and managing intellectual property litigation. As California continues to realize the legitimacy of the cannabis industry, as well as the challenges that the industry faces, this committee has positioned themselves as intrical in optimizing success and mitigating risk.

Diversity, Inclusion & Social Equity (DISE)

Co-Chairs: TBD for 2022

(This committee is open to all CCIA members)

The Diversity, Inclusion & Social Equity Committee is focused on fostering professional mentor-mentee relationships between industry pioneers of all backgrounds and their fellow CCIA Members from minority communities. It also works to encourage CCIA Members from minority communities to join other committees, volunteer for committee chair positions, and run for election to the CCIA Board. We also work with companies to diversify the ranks of their C-level executives, in-house legal departments, and upper management so that California's cannabis industry reflects the diversity of its consumer base.

Sustainability

Co-Chairs: Chairs pending

CCIA's newly formed sustainability committee will work toward tackling various sustainability topics in the California cannabis industry. These topics will include, but are not limited to, packaging, waste, CEQA requirements, energy & water conservation, and more. The committee will work on whitepapers & best practices to help educate members while providing key insight for the CCIA board to forward these

Committee: Policies and Procedures

CCIA committees provide a platform for members to engage in the rapidly developing regulations and legislation, which oversee the vast cannabis industry in California. These committees act as a resource to stay up to date with political forecasting.

By participating in CCIA's Committees you have the opportunity to work alongside fellow members and industry leaders developing legislative priorities while being proactively informed on statewide regulations.
