

My name is Jennifer Bard. My fascination for the building trades started as a little girl; watching my Dad build our family home. It quickly grew into a passion as I began remodeling my own home as a young adult (with my Dad's help of course!). I have been fortunate enough to channel that passion into my profession; following a career that has enabled me to work in areas that are essential to the industry. I am knowledgeable in various aspects of the building processes from new construction to remodels, focusing primarily in the residential sector. I

I enjoy every aspect from the planning of the project to realizing the results and all of the details in between! I joined the HBA 3 years ago and am honored and excited to be this year's Parade of Homes Committee Chair. I look forward to working with the committee, builders and members to make this year's parade another success!
