Silos Wellness Center Breaks Ground

The Silos Wellness Center is under construction at the site of the former Lafayette Feed and Grain property at 816 E. Baseline Road. Soul Tree Yoga, Rocky Mountain Pilates, and other healthcare providers and personal training services will be located in the center. Meghan Stockdale, owner of Soul Tree Yoga, says all of the participating businesses have operated in Lafayette for years. “When construction is complete next year, the center will bring together established, local health and wellness organizations under one roof. We’re coming together to provide a community resource that heals and strengthens individuals and the community by promoting physical, emotional, and spiritual well-being,” she says.
