In November, SCL Health welcomed Dawn J. Anuszkiewicz, MHSA, as the new President of Good Samaritan Medical Center in Lafayette.

Dawn brought a wealth of healthcare leadership experience after spending the majority of her career in healthcare management, serving in various roles ranging from Director of Medical Education to Administrator of Academic Services. Prior to SCL Health, Dawn spent two years as Chief Operating Officer of Reading Hospital - Tower Health, a 714-bed hospital in West Reading, PA and seven years as the Chief Executive Officer of Ochsner Baptist in New Orleans. While at Ochsner Baptist, she led the transformation to return the hospital to full-service after it was forced to close in 2005 following Hurricane Katrina.

Dawn is thrilled to get to work with Good Samaritan's physicians, associates, board members, and community partners. She has a proven track record of fostering a strong and collaborative culture, supporting teams in being successful and helping organizations to grow.

"I have a track record of developing a culture of high performing teams," Dawn said. "I look forward to partnering with the team here at Good Samaritan and assuring each individual has the opportunity to excel in their role and develop professionally. My job as president is to make each associate, physician and provider at GSMC wildly successful," she said.

Though it's been a difficult 21 months in the healthcare world due to the pandemic, Dawn seems unphased and looks forward to diving into her new role.

"COVID continues to stress our caregivers and our communities but you wouldn't know it at Good Samaritan," she said. "These last two years our caregivers have demonstrated such courage and commitment to their vocation and to serving their community. They showed up in the face of uncertainty, risking their health and their family's health. Each day these incredible humans answered the call to serve with grace, courage and excellence. I am humble to be on their team."

She has a strong commitment to community engagement, most recently serving as a Trustee for Albright College and Board Member of the Greater Reading Chamber Association. She looks forward to finding similar opportunities for engagement within the Lafayette community.

Dawn has an Executive Education Certificate from the Harvard Business School's Managing Healthcare Delivery Program, a Masters of Health Services Administration from The George Washington University, and a Bachelors of Arts in Psychology from Rutgers University.
