from the desk of the director

You don't need a degree in rocket science to see that a substantial amount of growth and development has taken place across Boone County over the past several years.

Whether you traverse US Highway 30 each morning on your commute, work or shop on Boone's south side, have watched the transformation in Madrid along the High Trestle Trail, or take a walk down Walnut Street in Ogden, you've no doubt witnessed new retail start-ups, industry locates, or growing tourism or housing initiatives. So, what exactly is going on?

Frankly, a lot of effort behind the scenes. It's one of the reasons that today you hold in your hands the very first issue of Boost. Lead. Connect. a partnership publication of the Boone County Chamber of Commerce, Convention and Visitors Bureau and the Boone County Economic Growth Corporation. The Chamber, CVB and EDC leaders and their investor-members have long been kept abreast of the latest news in retail, industry, tourism and community development initiatives. However, one important constituency has been excluded...Boone County citizens. Boost. Lead. Connect. has been created as a way to let the general public share in the news of our successes or better understand some of the challenges we face when seeking to improve our county as wonderful places to live, work and play. Boost. Lead. Connect. is a quarterly, magazine-style news piece that will be mailed directly to your address. No subscription needed. This issue is the first of four coming your way in 2020 and we hope you'll find this publication worth reading to stay abreast of the stories affecting the local economy, upcoming events, and industry developments in our area.

Oh, the name. Boost. Lead. Connect.? It represents the three tenets of our organizational missions: To help boost business by offering advocacy, visibility and marketing opportunities, lead initiatives that better our communities, and connect people and businesses to facilitate growth and development. It's that simple. No science degree needed.

presidents perspective

The casual consumer has gotten pretty savvy about navigating the internet to find information like the latest news, sports, product reviews, video tutorials, and yes, even cat videos. But what about these things called SEO, Website Analytics, or Display and Retargeting advertising? Do you wonder when they search what they'll find about you or your business? Are you even sure you're being found? There's a lot to know about the world wide web and leveraging the internet to your business' gain.

Grow with PARTNER

The Boone County Chamber is invested in understanding these powerful tools so that we can be a better resource for business owners and managers. To that end the Chamber is excited to offer a new partnership program called "Grow with Google". Google is the world's foremost expert on the internet and it's power to inform consumers and transform commerce. If you've always thought you should devote more time and effort to cultivating a presence on the web but aren't sure how to do it, or where best to spend your time, consider Google's four-part "livestream" series beginning with "Spring into Action", a one-hour focus on how to access and understand Google's website analytics in a way that can help you shape your web content and marketing impact on the internet. The first 'livestream' will take place Wednesday, March 11th from 11am to Noon and will be hosted at the Chamber offices, 903 Story Street. Other features in the series will cover SEO (search engine optimization), digital skills to increase your productivity, and showcasing your business during the holiday season. Watch for details in upcoming issues of the Boost.Lead.Connect. magazine.

The Google 'livestream' series is a FREE service offered to our members, and just one more example of how the Chamber is working to provide useful tools to help small businesses survive and thrive in Boone County. If you haven't checked out becoming a member of the Boone County Chamber, I invite you to contact our staff at 432-3342 or our Manager of Member Services, Kris Blocker, at office@booneiowa.us.

Tourism is Booming in Boone County

The tourism industry in Iowa is about more than places to visit; it's jobs, economic growth, quality of life, and revenue generation. These same aspects are all very true for Boone County. Tourism is a proven economic driver for Iowa, generating nearly $9 billion in revenue and more than 70,000 jobs according to the U.S. Travel Association. Travel and tourism is the 7th largest employer in Iowa.

The Convention and Visitors Bureau continues to find new ways to increase tourism in Boone County each year. Attending numerous travel shows, printed ads, billboards, digital media, and this spring we will host six bloggers to write first hand our story. A few ways our economy is impacted by tourism are; increased overnight stays at our hotels, greater visits to restaurants, convenient stores, and local attractions, and growth in retail sales. When you see a guest in town please make them feel welcome and share all the hidden gems you can find in Boone County. Boone County Featured In Site Selectors Journal

The most recent edition of the Business Xpansion Journal, a bi-monthly magazine directed at site selectors and business development professionals recently featured an article on the state of Iowa and included a short interview with Executive Director Kurt Phillips as part of its editorial.

The primary focus of the article is the Boone Industrial Park – Phase II Certified Industrial Park, located just north of the Boone & Scenic Valley Railroad line in the current industrial park.

The magazine also highlights Carroll County and the city of Clinton, Iowa in its overall report on the state of Iowa as the number one place to find a quality job.

Employment Opportunities

The Boone County Economic Growth Corporation, in partnership with the Ames Economic Development Commission and Iowa Workforce Development will be holding an industry job fair at the Fareway Events Center at Cobblestone Inn & Suites coming up Wednesday, March 4th. Workforce development continues to be one of industries hot-button issues and Iowa's low unemployment status necessitates creative approaches to finding the right "next employee".

BCEGC Executive Director Kurt Phillips expects upwards of twenty local employers to be represented at the job fair and is excited to finally see this event come to fruition. "When we visit with our local business leaders it is clear we need to go the extra mile to show potential employees that there are numerous opportunities to earn a great wage, access benefits and enjoy a high quality of life in Boone County. Hosting this job fair is one more way we can reach out to these candidates and bring them together with local employers."

City of Ogden/Casey's Reach Agreement

After a prolonged site search and several months of discussions with city officials, Casey's General Stores, Inc. and the Ogden City Council have reached a development agreement that will allow Casey's to build a brand new c-store on the community's south side.

The new 4,000 square foot store will be constructed east of the current store, across South 1st Street on East Veterans Drive. Casey's has purchased two lots and has plans to add tractor-trailer fuel bays. As part of the agreement East Veterans Drive up to the Casey's property, will be widened.

Midland Power (finally) Breaks Ground

Midland Power Co-operative fought off chronically wet conditions this past fall to finally schedule and break ground on their new corporate office and training field complex south of Boone.

The company is building a 12,000 sq. ft. building which will reside just north of a training field where Midland technicians will train year-round on safety practices and the latest technology used in the rural electric industry.

The company plans to relocate approximately twenty-five staff members to the new location. Midland Power Cooperative was founded in 1937 and has grown in recent years as it has merged or acquired REC's in Humboldt and Iowa Falls and now serves customers in 17 Iowa counties.

The cooperative also has a service center located in Boone County near Highway 17 and US 30.
