THERESA HUMMEL- KRALLINGER

Theresa Hummel-Krallinger is a well-respected corporate trainer and performance consultant specializing in employee engagement, leadership and high-potential development, change management strategies, board and leadership retreats or strategy sessions and creating a winning corporate culture.

However, it's Theresa's work as a humorist and motivational speaker that sets her apart. Her experience as a professional stand-up comedian enables her to add fun and humor to her consulting and training work. Theresa has over 25 years of business experience, having served in a number of leadership roles in the Fortune 100 Company.

A faculty member at Temple University, Theresa is also the President of High Five Performance, Inc. She has held leadership roles at Almac Clinical Technologies and Prudential Financial, and was the Board President for the Association for Talent Development (ATD).
