Celebrating Success of SIG-III Members

May 2021

Preface

To create more value for ASIS&T members in developing countries, in February and March 2021, SIG-III held two separate roundtable sessions with ASIS&T Africa Chapter and ASIS&T South Asia Chapter via Zoom. These sessions were attended by over 25 members, officers, and advisors of SIG-III, Africa Chapter, and South Asia Chapter. During one of these sessions, Pit Pichappan expressed the need to raise awareness of the accomplishments of members of SIG-III. In response, in April 2021, Devendra Potnis, Chair, SIG-III, reached out to more than 475 members of SIG-III via ASIS&T’s iConnect to invite them to share their accomplishments in the year 2020. Members were requested to report their accomplishments in up to 100 words by completing an online survey. SIG-III is proud to present the compilation of member accomplishments below.

“I joined ASIS&T through the InfoShare Award. This has broadened my professional network. ASIS&T networking enabled me to link the global iSchools caucus and African Universities culminating in the first ever Africa iSchool Day, conducted virtually, incorporating leading Professors from Europe, Oceania, USA, and Asia. ASIS&T provided me with a platform to showcase the results of a baseline survey on Digital Humanities (DH) in Africa which I presented as a panelist with my colleague at the 2020 Annual Meeting. I was nominated Web Master/Communications Officer for SIG-III and contributed to ASIS&T outreach via SIG-III website and social media channels. I am now planning to link ASIS&T with our national library consortium.”

“I have been publishing work from my 2016 thesis. In 2020, I published work on 'Intercultural relations in international agricultural research teams: Perceived issues influencing communication effectiveness’ DOI: 10.1080/17475759.2020.1782970. This fed into my 2019 JASIST paper ‘Assessing intercultural communication: Testing technology tools for information sharing in multinational research teams’ 10.1002/asi.24159 I also submitted another paper on macro-societal constraints in this communication, and have a final paper planned. Watch this space! In the meantime, I am re-invigorating communication research with local communities and agencies in regional Australia who face amazingly similar challenges as international teams.”
