

Storm damage wreaked havoc on this beautiful suburban home. In addition to a new roof, siding, and improved gutters, it also required new windows and related repairs.

When assessing damage, rot was discovered underneath the front eyebrow window, which was repaired and replaced.

The homeowners chose James Hardie products with a Board and Batten design, updating shakes around the windows, and changing color accents.

They also selected a new door and exterior light fixtures to complete the updated look.
